Feathered Marvels Dominic F. Sherony,Randi Minetor,2024-02-07 From the discovery of the fossil Archaeopteryx to more than 10 000 different documented species today birds have become the second most diversified class of vertebrates on Earth Birds have evolved extensively since they first emerged in prehistoric times but that diversity could dwindle and even vanish unless we take steps to conserve their habitats ensuring that they sustain their numbers and their variety This natural history of birds starts in the distant past going back to the Jurassic Cretaceous and Paleogene periods in order to get a broader understanding of the birds that we see today Chapters cover their lives breeding flight migration and more while also highlighting some especially unique bird fossils such as the Pelagornis Sandersi which had a wingspan of more than 20 feet Also included are chapters on the loss of needed habitats the current decline of native birds and what can be done to reverse it

Evolution in the Here and Now Nigel Barber,2020-05-12 This book argues that the two most influential theories on modern human behavior cultural determinism and evolutionary psychology are quite inadequate Cultural deterministic theories deny personal experience and too often fall prey to anthropocentric bias Most evolutionary psychologists argue that humans are shaped to fit our ancestral past effectively freezing us in time Evolution in the Here and Now looks to new factors like social learning and adaptation to explain the idiosyncrasies of human behavior in a more complete and nuanced way Evolutionary psychologist Nigel Barber shows that human behavior is uniquely crafted by the surrounding environment in underappreciated and surprising ways For example commerce and agriculture can be interpreted as adaptive alternatives to hunting and gathering Irrigated farming was a response to land scarcity which ultimately permitted the rise of early cities This cross disciplinary approach unites the missing ingredients that have for so long impeded our understanding of our own species and its variation across cultures Evolution in the Here and Now is a bold step forward in the evolutionary understanding of human behavior that marries our biology with our history in ways that have never been attempted before
