Homework For Grownups Everything You Learnt At School And Promptly Forgot:

Homework for Grown-ups E. Foley, B. Coates, 2009-08-11 A nostalgic compendium of essential knowledge that can help you show the world that you're smarter than a ten year old after all. Have you ever stared blankly at your kids when they've asked why the sky is blue? Or clumsily changed the subject when they've wanted to know why the wind blows? If you're done with school, it's likely you're also done knowing the difference between an isosceles and equilateral triangle and you probably leave participles dangling all over the place. Well, not anymore. Thanks to professional know-it-alls Foley and Coates, you can now gain back your self-respect and actually show those kids a thing or two as you tell it to them straight and not make it up from fragments of facts you kind of remember. Packed with all the basic facts that have managed to free-fall from our heads over the years, Homework for Grown-ups is the ultimate grammar school refresher course in book form. In fact, there's even a quiz at the end of each chapter to ensure you've been paying attention. Written in the light, engaging style of a favorite teacher and featuring lessons in English, math, history, science, geography, art, and even home economics and recess, this fun and handy guide will help you stop hemming and hawing and start speaking with a lot more authority and a little less shame. E. FOLEY and B. COATES are editors at Vintage who both live in London.

Homework For Grown-Ups E. Foley, B. Coates, 2010-10-26 Homework for Grown-ups is a brilliantly informative and entertaining book of old school knowledge for adults. It is the ultimate refresher course on mathematics (remember Pythagoras' theorem?), English grammar and literature (do you know your Margarets?), chemistry and the sciences (including the big bang theory). It spans geography (can you name the planets in order?), history (what exactly was the Family Compact?), art (Latin, phys ed, hockey, home economics) and much more, including crucially recess, finally definitive rules for Red Rover. Packed with essential facts, figures, and theories, Homework for Grown-ups is a practical and wonderfully nostalgic revision guide for adults that will entertain while exercising the mind. It'll make readers the hit of the cocktail party and might even equip parents to handle their child's homework without humiliation.

Homework for Grown-Ups Elizabeth Foley, Beth Coates, 2010 The Australian edition of this bestselling classic. Don't know your isosceles from your equilateral? Forgotten who wrote Waltzing Matilda? Do you know when you've left a participle hanging? And are you left slack-jawed when your children ask you what quid pro quo means? Bewildered already? Fret no longer. Homework for Grown-ups Australian Edition is a brilliantly informative and entertaining book of old school knowledge for adults. It swots up on mathematics (covering algebra, Pythagoras' theorem, prime numbers and the Fibonacci sequence), English grammar and literature (do you know how to read a poem?), chemistry and the sciences (including the Big Bang theory), geography (can you name the planets in order?), history (how to remember the Eureka Stockade, plus Federation and the first Prime Minister), art, Latin, modern languages, PE, home economics and much more. Homework for Grown-ups Australian Edition is packed with essential facts, figures, and theories along with fun but challenging test papers to keep you on your toes and reignite those dormant brain cells. A practical and wonderfully nostalgic revision guide for adults.

Paradigm Lost William G. Spady,1998-01-01 In Paradigm Lost Spady explores the important changes in culture instruction school calendars and school agenda that school leaders must make to prepare students for the next millennium despite the fact that the current system of schooling leads to institutional inertia that counters the very changes we most need to make Spady s big picture view refutes the wisdom of adhering to a system of schooling a paradigm based on a bureaucratic age culture industrial age delivery system agricultural age calendar and feudal age agenda Spady then explains how school leaders can overcome this inertia by working with staff and community members to adopt a new paradigm of schooling based on a locally developed vision of the future and what students will need to succeed in that future
