our oceans Routledge Handbook of National and Regional Ocean Policies Biliana Cicin-Sain, David Vanderzwaag, Miriam C. Balgos, 2015-05-15 This comprehensive handbook prepared by leading ocean policy academics and practitioners from around the world presents in depth analyses of the experiences of fifteen developed and developing nations and four key regions of the world that have taken concrete steps toward cross cutting and integrated national and regional ocean policy. All chapters follow a common framework for policy analysis. While most coastal nations of the world already have a variety of sectoral policies in place to manage different uses of the ocean such as shipping, fishing, oil and gas development, in the last two decades the coastal nations covered in the book have undertaken concerted efforts to articulate and implement an integrated ecosystem based vision for the governance of ocean areas under their jurisdiction. This includes goals and procedures to harmonize existing uses and laws to foster sustainable development of ocean areas to protect biodiversity and vulnerable resources and ecosystems and to coordinate the actions of the many government agencies that are typically involved in oceans affairs. The book highlights the serious conflicts of use in most national ocean zones and the varying attempts by nations to follow the prescriptions emanating from the 1982 UN Law of the Sea Convention and the outcomes of the 1992, 2002 and 2012 sustainable development summits. The interrelationship among uses and processes in the coast and ocean requires that ocean governance be integrated, precautionary and anticipatory. Overall, the book provides a definitive state of the art review and analysis of national and regional ocean policies around the world. Managing Deep-sea Ecosystems at Ocean Basin Scale, Volume 1 J. Murray Roberts, Telmo Morato, 2022-04-01 Science, Technology, and New Challenges to Ocean Law Harry N. Scheiber, James Kraska, Moon-Sang Kwon, 2015-08-25 Science Technology and New Challenges to Ocean Law offers fresh perspectives on a set of vital issues in the field of ocean law and policy. Since the early period of the industrial revolution successive waves of revolutionary scientific discoveries and technological innovations have intensified the global population's exploitation of ocean and coastal resources. In this volume several leading authorities in the field address major dimensions of the interface of science, technology and ocean law both historically and in current day perspective and emergent challenges in legal ordering of ocean uses for sustainability and equitability. Among the topics that are analysed in these readable accessible papers are ecosystem approaches to resource management, the historic interplay of science and military concerns, the place of science in dispute settlement processes, the varied human uses of the seabed, the roles in ocean governance of indigenous peoples, legal issues in fisheries management and conservation and special regional problems of the Arctic, the Bering Strait, the South China Sea and the eastern Mediterranean. The urgent importance of the subjects addressed here together with the variety of disciplinary approaches deployed by the authors enhance the value of this book's unique contribution to the literature of ocean studies. Conserving Biodiversity in Areas beyond National Jurisdiction David Freestone, 2019-02-19 Since 2006 the United Nations General Assembly (UNGA) has been discussing the question of the conservation and sustainable use of biodiversity in areas beyond national jurisdiction. Following the issues raised by the Ad Hoc Working Group 2006 2015 and the Preparatory Commission 2016 2017 in 2017 the UNGA agreed to convene an intergovernmental conference to discuss these issues Conserving Biodiversity in Areas beyond National Jurisdiction edited by David Freestone brings together a collection of essays covering some of the key issues involved in these debates The essays are contributed by a number of distinguished scholars and practitioners many of whom are involved in the UNGA negotiations and are a useful reference for actors involved in the negotiations as well as for practitioners scholars and students following the process

Oceans and Society Ana Spalding, Daniel Suman, 2023-02-28 This unique textbook presents an introduction to the interdisciplinary field of marine studies exploring the dynamic relationship between people and the marine environment Emphasizing the human dimension of coastal and ocean issues the book provides an innovative examination of the complex marine human environment dynamics by drawing on social science and humanities approaches. Applying these interdisciplinary approaches, the textbook addresses key challenges facing the marine environment, including changing climate, fisheries, aquaculture, marine pollution, energy production, and management of areas beyond national jurisdiction. While leading with a human dimension approach to these challenges, the chapters are all firmly grounded in foundational knowledge about coastal and ocean environments and processes. The textbook also includes examples of professional or academic areas of specialization within marine studies, such as social and environmental justice, governance, global perspectives, traditional ecological knowledge and management, entrepreneurship, community development, conservation, and the blue economy. Ultimately, the book provides the first cohesive resource on marine studies to educate students, train interdisciplinary marine leaders, inspire new knowledge about people and the sea, generate innovative solutions for sustainable oceans, and build capacity for a new generation of marine-focused professionals. Oceans and Society is essential reading for students on marine studies courses, as well as those studying marine governance, policy, conservation, and law more broadly. It will also be of great interest to students, researchers, and professionals interested in applying interdisciplinary approaches to environmental challenges.
