The benefits of bilingualism and biculturalism, such as higher cognitive skills, an awareness of language and sensitivity to other cultures, are being increasingly recognised. However, many parents don't know how to start, what methods to use or where to seek help when facing problems. Now Suzanne Barron-Hauwaert, a mother of three trilingual children, teacher and linguist who has lived and worked all over the world, has written a book which provides an inspiring approach to passing on two or more languages to your children. In Language Strategies for Bilingual Families, she considers several methods of bilingualism and focuses on the one person, one language approach in which each parent speaks his or her native language and is responsible for passing on his or her culture. Suzanne questioned over a hundred bilingual families about their experiences and she interviewed thirty families in depth. The results of her study are linked to current academic research, but the book is both readable and relevant to non-academics and provides fascinating insights into being a multilingual family. It will prove an exciting and stimulating read for potential and current mixed language families. Contemporary Applied Linguistics

International Schools have developed since their inception from a largely native English-speaking student body to schools such as the author's the Vienna International School (VIS) where there are students of 90 nationalities with 65 mother tongues. Maurice Carder proposes a three-programme model for addressing the language and curricula needs of these students: a content-based second language programme; a programme of cultural and linguistic training for all staff; and a mother tongue programme for minority students. The model is based on research findings and practice at the VIS every year approximately 1/3 of the graduating students gain an IB Diploma International Baccalaureate because they are able to take their mother tongue other than English or German as Language A1. The book contains insightful chapters not only for school leaders, programme designers, and teachers but also for parents. Inserted boxes of student responses give an authentic voice to the needs of second language learners and many useful resources and websites are given. Bilingual Literacy Development
