A Song for Europe Robert Deam Tobin, 2017-07-05 The world's largest and longest running song competition the Eurovision Song Contest is a significant and extremely popular media event throughout the continent and abroad The Contest is broadcast live in over 30 countries with over 100 million viewers annually Established in 1956 as a televised spectacle to unify postwar Western Europe through music the Contest features singers who represent a participating nation with a new popular song Viewers vote by phone for their favourite performance though they cannot vote for their own country's entry This process alone reveals much about national identities and identifications as voting patterns expose deep seated alliances and animosities among participating countries Here an international group of scholars from a variety of disciplines including musicology communications history sociology English and German studies explore how the contest sheds light on issues of European politics national and European identity race gender and sexuality and the aesthetics of camp For some countries participation in Eurovision has been simultaneously an assertion of modernity and a claim to membership in Europe and the West Eurovision is sometimes regarded as a low brow camp spectacle of little aesthetic or intellectual value The essays in this collection often contradict this assumption demonstrating that the contest has actually been a significant force and forecaster for social cultural and political transformations in postwar Europe Catalog of non c'è mai una fine Valentina Enrica Criscione, 2018-04-17 Nella vita ci sono cose che non puoi prevedere che sia colpa del destino o meno succedono e basta A volte accadono cose all'improvviso che non hai nemmeno il tempo di accorgertene e in un attimo ti stravolgono la vita Tutto quello che avevi costruito con le tue mani d'un tratto lo vedi crollare un po' come quando crei un castello di sabbia e un soffio di vento lo abbatte La sola differenza che il castello di sabbia puoi sempre cercare di ricostruirlo esattamente come prima la vita invece no I momenti gli attimi quelli non si possono ricreare Tutto quello che succede appartiene al passato e d'altronde cose che deve andare

Sottile come il domani Vincenzo Marsili, 2014-06-04 La vita di molte persone appare bloccata in un movimento di ripetizione circolare nel quale ogni partenza in realtà la ripetizione di un ritorno o riavvolgono il passato o programmano il futuro in modo da togliergli tutta la sua imprevedibilità che potrebbe generare un pericoloso sentimento di precarietà La paura della morte che si nasconde sotto tutto ci che sconosciuto li costringe ad uno sforzo continuo per ristabilire un ordine perfetto L'Autore compie un viaggio in queste menti ossessive che sono prigionieri dei loro pensieri ricercando di un modo per spezzare le catene e aprire una strada al cambiamento
