Stokes, 2012-12-07 A firsthand account of the Civil War and Reconstruction in the Old South rice kingdom from one of South Carolina s founding families The Civil War and Reconstruction eras decimated the rice planting enterprise of the South and no family experienced the effects of this economic upheaval quite as dramatically as the Heywards of South Carolina a family synonymous with the wealth of the old rice kingdom in the Palmetto State Twilight on the South Carolina Rice Fields collects the revealing wartime and postbellum letters and documents of Edward Barnwell Barney Heyward 1826 1871 a native of Beaufort District and grandson of Nathaniel Heyward one of the most successful rice planters and largest slaveholders in the South Barney Heyward was also the father of South Carolina governor Duncan Clinch Heyward author of Seed from Madagascar the definitive account of the rice kingdom's final stand a generation later Edited by Margaret Belser Hollis and Allen H Stokes the Heyward family correspondence from this transformational period reveals the challenges faced by a once successful industry and a once opulent society in the throes of monumental change During the war Barney Heyward served as a lieutenant in the engineering division of the Confederate army but devoted much of his time to managing affairs at his plantations near Columbia and Beaufort His letters chronicle the challenges of preserving his lands and maintaining control over the enslaved labor force essential to his livelihood and his family's fortune The wartime letters also provide a penetrating view of the Confederate defense of coastal South Carolina against the Union forces who occupied Beaufort District In the aftermath of the conflict Heyward worked with only limited success to revive planting operations In addition to what these documents reveal about rice cultivation during tumultuous times they also convey the drama affections and turmoil of life in the Heyward family from Barney's increasingly difficult relations with his father Charles Heyward to his heartfelt devotion to his wife the former Catherine Tat Maria Clinch and their children Twilight of the South Carolina Rice Fields also features an introduction by noted economic historian Peter A Coclanis that places these letters and the legacy of the Heyward family into a broader historical context
