Holy Earth Birth Land Ethic:

The Holy Earth Liberty Hyde Bailey, 1915 The Holy Earth Liberty Hyde Bailey, 2015-12-15 The agrarian tradition runs as an undercurrent through the entire history of literature carrying the age old wisdom that the necessary access of independent farmers to their own land both requires the responsibility of good stewardship and provides the foundation for a thriving civilization At the turn of the last century when farming first began to face the most rapid and extensive series of changes that industrialization would bring the most compelling and humane voice representing the agrarian tradition came from the botanist farmer philosopher and public intellectual Liberty Hyde Bailey In 1915 Bailey s environmental manifesto The Holy Earth addressed the industrialization of society by utilizing the full range of human vocabulary to assert that the earth s processes and products because they form the governing conditions of human life should therefore be understood not first as economic but as divine To grasp the extent of human responsibility for the earth Bailey called for a new hold that society must take to develop a morals of land management which would later inspire Aldo Leopold s land ethic and several generations of agrarian voices This message of responsible land stewardship has never been as timely as now

Earthkeeping and Character Steven Bouma-Prediger, 2019-11-19 Addressing a topic of growing and vital concern this book asks us to reconsider how we think about the natural world and our place in it Steven Bouma Prediger brings ecotheology into conversation with the emerging field of environmental virtue ethics exploring the character traits and virtues required for Christians to be responsible keepers of the earth and to flourish in the challenging decades to come He shows how virtue ethics can enrich Christian environmentalism helping readers think and act in ways that rightly value creation The Sower and the Seer Joseph Hogan, Jon Lauck, Paul Murphy, Andrew Seal, Gleaves Whitney, 2021-02-17 This collection of twenty two essays a product of recent revivals of interest in both Midwestern history and intellectual history argues for the contributions of interior thinkers and ideas in forming an American identity The Midwest has been characterized as a fertile seedbed for the germination of great thinkers but a wasteland for their further growth The Sower and the Seer reveals that representation to be false In fact the region has sustained many innovative minds and been the locus of extraordinary intellectualism It has also been the site of shifting interpretations to some a frontier to others a colonized space a breadbasket a crossroads a heartland As agrarian reformed and Michigander Liberty Hyde Bailey expressed in his 1916 poem Sower and Seer the Midwestern landscape has given rise to significant visionaries just as their knowledge has nourished and shaped the region The essays gathered for this collection examine individual thinkers writers and leaders as well as movements and ideas that shaped the Midwest including rural school consolidation women s literary societies Progressive era urban planning and Midwestern radical liberalism While disparate in subject and style these essays taken together establish the irrefutable significance of the intellectual history of the American Midwest Religion, Sustainability, and Place Steven E. Silvern, Edward H. Davis, 2020-12-14 This book explores how religious groups work to create sustainable relationships between people places and environments This interdisciplinary volume deepens our understanding of this relationship revealing that the geographical imagination our sense of place is a key aspect of the sustainability ideas and practices of religious groups The book begins with a broad examination of how place shapes faith based ideas about sustainability with examples drawn from indigenous Hawaiians and the sacred texts of Judaism and Islam Empirical case studies from North America Europe Central Asia and Africa follow illustrating how a local bounded and sacred sense of place informs religious based efforts to protect people and natural resources from threatening economic and political forces Other contributors demonstrate that a cosmopolitan geographical imagination viewing place as extending from the local to the global shapes the struggles of Christian Jewish and interfaith groups to promote just and sustainable food systems and battle the climate crisis

The Holy Earth L. H. Bailey, 2019-12-17 In The Holy Earth L H Bailey presents a profound exploration of humanity's relationship with nature weaving together elements of philosophy ecology and spirituality This seminal work is characterized by its lyrical prose and a reflective tone that invites readers to reconsider their role within the natural world Written during a time when industrialization and urbanization were beginning to overshadow the rural landscape Bailey contextualizes his arguments against the backdrop of early 20th century environmentalism drawing on both scientific observations and poetic sensibility to advocate for a holistic understanding of the earth as sacred L H Bailey a prominent horticulturist and influential educator dedicated his life to the study and promotion of agriculture and horticulture His experiences in farming and the cultivation of land profoundly influenced his perspectives leading him to view the earth not merely as a resource but as a living entity deserving reverence Bailey's unique position as a scholar engaged with both science and literature enables him to articulate a vision for sustainability and ethical stewardship that resonates across disciplines The Holy Earth is a must read for anyone interested in environmental philosophy ecology and the interconnectedness of life Bailey's evocative prose and thoughtful insights encourage readers to cultivate a deeper appreciation for the world around them making this book a timeless call to honor and protect our fragile planet

Sacred Custodians of the Earth? Alaine M. Low, Soraya Tremayne, 2001 These 13 workshop based papers critique ecofeminist assumptions about traditional societies viewing women as closer to nature and more spiritual than men Following an overview by Low history Open U and Tremayne social and cultural anthropology U of Oxford the first contribution frames the debate over gender politics and environmentalism Next case studies illustrate sacred landscape not intrinsically ecologically oriented in such societies past and present Part III treats nature and gender in several major world religions The final paper discusses contemporary paganism's quest for wholeness The cover title reads Women as sacred custodians of the earth Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Women as Sacred Custodians of the Earth? Alaine Low, Soraya Tremayne, 2001-12-01 Literature on women development and environment is abundant The relationship between women and ecology has been analyzed by various disciplines by specialists from the North as well as the South This book offers a new perspective specifically to challenge the assumption that women have a special affinity with the Earth and therefore a historic mission for the care of the environment The book explores spiritual religious and philosophical beliefs concerning women and ecology and whether women are truly sacred custodians of the Earth This concept has evolved from ideas developed by eco feminists Whether and how different belief systems can be put to use to create an awareness to protect preserve and improve ecological conditions is discussed The collection of papers demonstrates the complexity of the issues and the variations and vulnerability of the assumed relationship between women and the environment in different cultural and political contexts The book challenges policy solutions which are devised to be on a global scale and to create unrealistic global aspirations and the value of targeting women in a particular attempt to achieve environmentally sustainable

Place, Ecology and the Sacred Michael S. Northcott, 2015-06-18 People are born in one place Traditionally humans move around more than other animals but in modernity the global mobility of persons and the factors of production increasingly disrupts the sense of place that is an intrinsic part of the human experience of being on earth Industrial development and fossil fuelled mobility negatively impact the sense of place and help to foster a culture of placelessness where buildings fields and houses increasingly display a monotonous aesthetic At the same time ecological habitats and diverse communities of species are degraded Romantic resistance to the industrial evisceration of place and ecological diversity involved the setting aside of scenic or sublime landscapes as wilderness areas or parks However the implication of this project is that human dwelling and ecological sustainability are intrinsically at odds In this collection of essays Michael Northcott argues that the sense of the sacred which emanates from local communities of faith sustained a parochial ecology which over the centuries shaped communities that were more socially just and ecologically sustainable than the kinds of exchange relationships and settlement patterns fostered by a global and place blind economy Hence Christian communities in medieval Europe fostered the distributed use and intergenerational care of common resources such as alpine meadows forests or river catchments But contemporary political economists neglect the role of boundaried places and spatial limits in the welfare of human and ecological communities Northcott argues that place based forms of community dwelling and exchange such as a local food economy more closely resemble evolved commons governance arrangements and facilitate the revival of a sense of neighbourhood and of reconnection between persons and the ecological places in which they dwell Living with Nature Frank Fischer, Maarten A. Hajer, 1999 This text aims to place the question of the dynamics of environmental crisis in a socio cultural dimension of the existing economic and political institutions It argues for a need to find a balance between theoretical analysis of the debate and an appreciation of local circumstances and knowledge City, Country, Empire Jeffry M. Diefendorf, Kurpatrick Dorsey, 2005 A collection of essays addressing the collaboration of human and natural forces in the creation of cities the countryside and empires Birth Through Death, the Ethics of the Twentieth Plane Albert Durrant Watson, 1920
