Homeless Shelter Design Considerations For Shaping Shelters And The Public Realm:

Homeless Shelter Design John Russell Graham, Christine Ann Walsh, Beverly Ann Sandalack, 2008 Design contributes to how we see our cities and through its connection with function it determines how we live within our cities This book provides insight into one aspect of the interconnection the design and function of shelters for homeless individuals It evolved out of an applied research project a fusion between the disciplines of environmental design and social work that sought to better appreciate design possibilities for a homeless shelter in downtown Calgary Alberta Canada But through a deeper analysis a broader story emerged The authors found little scholarship on the question of how to design and plan shelters for homeless people so they undertook their own research by analyzing 63 shelters in 25 cities in Canada the US and the UK The principles that began to emerge were not only useful to the authors work in Calgary but also could be helpful to people interested in the design of homeless shelters in general These two things the specifics as to Calgary and the more general principles that emerge in relation to Calgary and those precedents beyond it are the main subject matter of this book

Homelessness and the Built Environment Jill Pable, Yelena McLane, Lauren Trujillo, 2021-07-08 Winner of the 2020 IDEC award Homelessness and the Built Environment provides a practical introduction to the effective physical design of homes and other facilities that assist unhoused persons in countries identified as middle to high income It considers the supportive role that design can play for unhoused persons and other users and argues that the built environment is an equal partner alongside other therapies and programs for ending a person's state of homelessness By exploring issues trends and the unique potential of built environments this book moves the needle of what is possible to assist people experiencing trauma Examining important architectural and interior architectural design considerations in detail within emergency shelters transitional shelters permanent supportive housing day centers and multi service complexes such as space planning choices circulation and wayfinding visibility lighting and materials and finishes it provides readers with both curated conclusions from empirical knowledge and experienced designers perspectives Homelessness and the Built Environment is an imperative and singular reference for interior designers architects and building renovation sponsors design researchers and students forging new discoveries and policy makers who seek to assist communities affected by homelessness Resilient Communities and the Peccioli Charter Maurizio Carta, Maria R. Perbellini, Jose Antonio Lara-Hernandez, 2022-04-25 This book explores urban resilience through significant original and rigorous academic research utilising the experiences of town planners architects and decision makers to create a charter on resilient communities The second part of the book presents mini essays discussing the strategic points of the paper and enabling more casual readers with the ability to access information on urban resilience The book then explores urban resilience through the work and understanding of the institutions responsible for regulating the professions of urban planner educators professionals and those involved in communication Providing numerous illustrations and examples Resilient Communities and the Peccioli Charter will be of interest to researchers postgraduates architects urban designers and planners alike Handbook of Research on Methodologies for Design and Production Practices in Interior Architecture Garip, Ervin, Garip, S. Banu, 2020-11-20 Studio environments can be defined as multi dimensional integrated production spaces where basic design trainings take place and where design issues including theoretical notions such as sociological political phenomenological and other dimensions are discussed Present approaches within the literature and social media on this topic gives cause for students to evaluate their future professions over finished and pictorial products rather than ontological and processual means While there are many resources available on the present approaches of aesthetics and visuality of interior spaces there is not much research available on new design methodologies related design processes and new applied methods in interior architecture Based on different contexts these methods of design practice have the potential to enrich design processes and create multiple discussion platforms within project studios as well as other design media These different representations and narration methods for research in the context of interior architecture can be effectively used in design processes The Handbook of Research on Methodologies for Design and Production Practices in Interior Architecture proposes new design methodologies and related design processes and introduces new applied method approaches while presenting alternative methods that have been used within design studios in the field of interior architecture The chapters deal with four major sections the design process and interdisciplinary approaches then scenario development and content followed by material texture and atmosphere and concluding with new approaches to design While highlighting topics such as spatial perception design strategies architectural atmosphere and design thinking this book is of interest to architects interior designers practitioners stakeholders researchers academicians and students looking for advanced research on the new design methodologies and processes for interior architecture

Suspended Living in Temporary Space Marco Vaudetti, Valeria Minucciani, Simona Canepa, Nilufer Saglar Onay, 2018-03-30 On 9th October 2017 the international conference Suspended Living in Temporary Space was held at the headquarters of the Architecture School of the Polytechnic of Turin Some scholars architects but not only have found themselves reflecting on the role of the architect and architecture within the almost apocalyptic scenario of the great migratory waves following disasters and emergencies with specific attention to the context of the Mediterranean area In this scenario there are those who flee alone and with the whole family people who leave a promising profession and others who leave almost nothing unaccompanied minors and adults For everyone we must first and foremost guarantee the fundamental right of a refuge It is easy to see how many studies idea competitions experimental projects carried out by architects to tackle this problem but if we refer to common practice then we must recognize that the role of architecture as a discipline has been decidedly secondary The contributions collected here testify to this double track where the most innovative experiments haven t often interfered with the reality of the facts The origin of the participants at this conference Turkey Spain Tunisia and Italy also underlined how the problem of housing emergency is particularly felt and debated in these countries also within the universities Innovations in Hospital Architecture Stephen Verderber, 2010-03-31 This indispensable reference book captures key recent developments in the rapidly evolving field of sustainable hospital architecture Today's architects must provide hospitals which enable high quality care for diverse patient populations in carbon neutral care settings and this book succinctly considers what needs to be done in order to meet that challenge The contemporary hospital is viewed in the context of global climate change the planet's diminishing natural resources and the spiralling cost of operating healthcare facilities Stephen Verderber considers the future of the hospital and supplies a compendium of 100 planning and design considerations for the building type The book includes twenty eight case studies of built and unbuilt hospitals from around the world These are grouped into five types autonomous community based hospitals children's hospitals rehabilitation and elderly care centres and hospitals regional medical centre campuses and visionary unbuilt projects Beautifully and extensively illustrated with many photographs diagrams and floor plans this is essential reading for all architects planners engineers product manufacturers clients healthcare providers and government agencies involved in the present and future of sustainable healthcare environments Reconstructing Italy Stephanie Zeier Pilat, 2016-04-08 Reconstructing Italy traces the postwar transformation of the Italian nation through an analysis of the Ina Casa plan for working class housing established in 1949 to address the employment and housing crises Government sponsored housing programs undertaken after WWII have often been criticized as experiments that created more social problems than they solved The neighborhoods of Ina Casa stand out in contrast to their contemporaries both in terms of design and outcome Unlike modernist high rise housing projects of the period Ina Casa neighborhoods are picturesque and human scaled and incorporate local construction materials and methods resulting in a rich aesthetic diversity And unlike many other government forays into housing undertaken during this period the Ina Casa plan was on the whole successful the neighborhoods are still lively and cohesive communities today This book examines what made Ina Casa a success among so many failed housing experiments focusing on the tenuous balance struck between the legislation governing Ina Casa the architects who led the Ina Casa administration the theory of design that guided architects working on the plan and an analysis of the results the neighborhoods and homes constructed Drawing on the writings of the architects government documents and including brief passages from works of neorealist literature and descriptions of neorealist films by Pier Paolo Pasolini Italo Calvino and others this book presents a portrait of the postwar struggle to define a post Fascist Italy

Exposés Présentés Au Seizième Congrès de L'UIA International Union of Architects. World Congress, 1987 The New American Ghetto Camilo J. Vergara, 1995 The New American Ghetto provides an exploration over nearly two decades of ghettos in New York Newark Los Angeles Chicago Detroit and smaller cities Camilo Jose Vergara chronicles through photographs and text the profound transformations experienced by these places since the riots of the 1960s He provides direct observations of urban landscapes and interiors from residential areas and institutions to vacant lots and abandoned factories He takes successive photographs of the same places tracking change over time changes that have made the conditions of today s ghettos very different from those of an earlier era Vergara s interviews with residents and historical research contribute to his unique view of the nature and meaning of the inner city Termed a photographic forecast of the demise of urban America The New American Ghetto brings to light a world of forgotten ruin and struggling reconstruction

Interior Design in the Realm of Social Services Amanda Kaserman Leininger,2013 The present study plans to investigate the social issues of homelessness and the strategies for creating positive living environments that aim to enable inhabitants to re enter society Supported by statistical evidence homelessness has been recognized as a growing issue in the United States that deserves serious attention and proper solutions There are a wide range of reasons why people succumb to the undesirable status of homelessness By exploring the circumstances we will be able to gain a better understanding of the issues which in turn can help formulate supportive programs and inform environmental design solutions to accommodate their needs Currently homeless shelters are in most cases located in either poorer neighborhoods or older rundown buildings that lack the capacity to accommodate the growing number of people who need to be housed in the space let alone the programmatic facilities such as computers job preparation basic medical care and so on to help the homeless regain their footing in society The study will examine the relevant issues of programmatic planning and environmental design for the homeless shelters that are able to address the temporary sheltering needs and more importantly to provide long term solutions for the homeless to re enter the society

The Creation of Shelter Nora Richter Greer, 1988 The American Institute of Architects AIA became involved in the problem of homelessness through the establishment of the Search for Shelter program a collaboration with several other architectural organizations The program led by the AIA Housing Committee sought solutions to the housing crisis through a series of workshops held around the country in 1987 This report gathers various responses from these first workshops The first part of the report comprised of 27 case studies presents projects solutions and strategies resulting from these workshops including emergency shelter transitional shelter single room occupancy SRO units other long term housing rural low cost housing housing for the mentally ill other special housing an area wide survey of shelter needs a campaign to raise public awareness a community center for the homeless criteria to determine where to expand shelter facilities a design competition Each case study includes project descriptions contacts and sponsors and participants The second part of the report on the creation of shelter includes the following sections 1 No Place to Call Home 2 Partnerships for Housing 3 The Search for Shelter 4 Low Cost Housing Redefined and 5 A Commitment to Caring A bibliography of 26 references is appended as well as case studies indexes by city and subject

Housing As If People Mattered Clare Cooper Marcus, Wendy Sarkissian, 1986 From the Introduction Consider these two places Walking into Green Acres you immediately sense that you have entered an oasis traffic noise left behind negative urban distractions out of sight children playing and running on the grass adults puttering on plant filled balconies Signs of life and care for the environment abound Innumerable social and physical clues communicate to visitors and residents alike a sense of home and neighborhood This is a place that people are proud of a place that children will remember in later years with nostalgia and affection a place that just feels good Contrast this with Southside Village Something does not feel quite right It is hard to find your way about to discern which are the fronts and which are the backs of the houses to determine what is inside and what is outside Strangers cut across what might be a communal backyard There are no signs of personalization around doors or on balconies Few children are around those who are outside ride their bikes in circles in the parking lot There are few signs of caring litter graffiti and broken light fixtures indicate the opposite There is no sense of place it is somewhere to move away from not somewhere to remember with pride These are not real locations but we have all seen places like them The purpose of this book is to assist in the creation of more places like Green Acres and to aid in the rehabilitation of the many Southside Villages that scar our cities This book is a collection of guidelines for the site design of low rise high density family housing It is intended as a reference tool primarily for housing designers and planners but also for developers housing authorities citizens groups and tenants organizations anyone involved in planning or rehabilitating housing It provides guidelines for the layout of buildings open spaces community facilities play areas walkways and the myriad components that make up a housing
