For example, the authors of the study on the effects of the 1997-1998 Asian financial crisis on the Japanese economy found that the crisis had a significant negative impact on the Japanese economy, leading to a sharp decline in GDP and a rise in unemployment. The authors also found that the crisis had a significant negative impact on the Japanese stock market, leading to a sharp decline in stock prices and a rise in volatility. These findings suggest that the Asian financial crisis had a significant negative impact on the Japanese economy and stock market, and that the Japanese government should take steps to mitigate the impact of the crisis on the economy and stock market.
