Soviet new man as a creature forged by propaganda is challenged by the strikingly new and varied case studies presented here. The book focuses on the interplay between the rapidly developing experimental life sciences such as biology, medicine, and psychology and countless cultural products ranging from film and fiction, dolls and museum exhibits to pedagogical projects, sculptures, and exemplary agricultural fairs. With contributions from scholars based in the United States, Canada, the UK, Germany, and Russia, the picture that emerges is emphatically more complex, contradictory, and suggestive of strong parallels with other new man visions in Europe and elsewhere. In contrast to previous interpretations that focused largely on the apparent disconnect between utopian new man rhetoric and the harsh realities of everyday life in the Soviet Union, this volume brings to light the surprising historical trajectories of new man visions, their often obscure origins, acclaimed and forgotten champions, unexpected and complicated results, and mutual interrelations. In short, the volume is a timely examination of a recurring theme in modern history when dramatic advancements in science and technology conjoin with anxieties about the future to fuel dreams of a new and improved mankind.

Contemporary Islamic Political Thought in Egypt Ebtisam Aly Hussein, 2024-02-22. This book takes a hermeneutic approach toward reading the writings of Jamal al-Banna and Tariq al-Bishri across several decades in order to explore contemporary Islamic political thought under authoritarianism. Ebtisam Aly Hussein uses the framework of meta-languages in relation to the writings of these two particular Islamic intellectuals to examine how authority over the public sphere is established in both religious and political terms. Chapters outline the major themes of Islamic political thought in the writings of al-Banna and al-Bishri, mainly the state in Islam, Shari'a, application of political violence as jihad, and identity politics, and how in their writings they have interacted with a variety of autocratic practices under Nasir Sadat and Mubarak. The book puts forward a unique study of the role of politics and religion in establishing authority over the public sphere and how this authority is manifested in the intellectual output of these two Islamic intellectuals.

Rhetorics for Community Action Phyllis Mentzell Ryder, 2012-07-10. Rhetorics for Community Action.

Public Writing and Writing Publics by Phyllis Mentzell Ryder offers theory and pedagogy to introduce public writing as a complex political and creative action To write public texts we have to invent the public we wish to address Such invention is a complex task with many components to consider exigency that brings people together a sense of agency and capacity a sense of how the world is and what it can become All these components constantly compete against texts that put forward other public ideals opposing ideas about who really has power and who really can create change Teachers of public writing must adopt a generous response to those who venture into this arena Some scholars believe that to prepare students for public life university classes should partner with grassroots community organizations rather than nonprofits that serve food or tutor students They worry that a service related focus will create more passive citizens who do not rally and resist or grab the attention of government leaders or corporations With carefully contextualized study of an after school arts program an area soup kitchen and parks organizations among others Ryder shows that many so called service organizations are not passive places at all and she argues that the main challenge of public work is precisely that it has to take place among all of these compelling definitions of democracy Ryder proposes teaching public writing by partnering with multiple community nonprofits She develops a framework to help students analyze how their community partners inspire people to action and offers a course design that support them as they convey those public ideals in community texts But composing public texts is only part of the challenge Traditional newspapers and magazines through their business models and writing styles reinforce a dominant role for citizens as thinking and reading but not necessarily acting This civic role is also professed

The New Larned History for Ready Reference, Reading and Research Josephus Nelson Larned, 1924 Regulation and Economic Analysis R.L. Gordon, 1994-04-30 Regulation and Economic Analysis A Critique Over Two Centuries argues that long experience with the practice of regulation creates a broad anti intervention consensus among economists This consensus is based on comparison of real intervention to real markets rather than an ideological preconception It is shown that economic theory can support all possible positions on intervention Much theory is too abstract to support any policy position many arguments about how intervention might help contain qualifications expressing doubts about whether the potential can be realized many theories illustrate the drawbacks of intervention The vast literature on these issues concentrates either on specific cases or polemics that exaggerate both sides of the argument Regulation and Economic Analysis seeks to show the depth of the discontent develop interpretations of economic theory that follow from skepticism about statism and provide selected illustrations The discussion begins with examination of general equilibrium theory and proceeds to discuss market failure with stress on monopoly and particularly what is deemed excessive concern with predatory behavior International trade issues transaction costs property rights economic theories of government the role of special institutions such as contracts the defects of macroeconomic and equity arguments for regulating individual markets environmental economics and the defects of public land management policies are examined
