Democracy in School and Society: Education, Lifelong Learning, and the Politics of Citizenship Gert J.J.

Biesta, 2011-10-21 This book explores the relationships between education lifelong learning and democratic citizenship It emphasises the importance of the democratic quality of the processes and practices that make up the everyday lives of children young people and adults for their ongoing formation as democratic citizens The book combines theoretical and historical work with critical analysis of policies and wider developments in the field of citizenship education and civic learning The book urges educators educationalists policy makers and politicians to move beyond an exclusive focus on the teaching of citizenship towards an outlook that acknowledges the ongoing processes and practices of civic learning in school and society This is not only important in order to understand the complexities of such learning It can also help to formulate more realistic expectations about what schools and other educational institutions can contribute to the promotion of democratic citizenship The book is particularly suited for students researchers and policy makers who have an interest in citizenship education civic learning and the relationships between education lifelong learning and democratic citizenship Gert Biesta www.gertbiesta.com is Professor of Education at the School of Education University of Stirling UK

Democracy, Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society Peter Jarvis, 2008-06-10 This is a book with a difference it produces a completely new perspective on lifelong learning and the learning society and locates them within humanity itself Five themes run through this book Humankind has always been aware of the imperfections of human society as a consequence it has looked back to a mythological past and forward to a utopian future that might be religious political economic or even educational to find something better Lifelong learning as we currently see it is like two sides of the same coin we learn in order to be workers who produce and learn we have a need to consume We then devour the commodities we have produced whilst others take the profits One of the greatest paradoxes of the human condition has been the place of the individual in the group community or conversely how the groups allow the individual to exist rather than stifle individuality Modernity is flawed and the type of society that we currently have which we in the West call a learning society is in need of an ethical overhaul in this late modern age There is a need to bring a different perspective both political and ethical on lifelong learning and the learning society in order to try to understand what the good society and the good life might become In Democracy Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society the third volume of his trilogy on lifelong learning Professor Jarvis expertly addresses the issues that arise from the vision of the learning society The book concludes that since human beings continue to learn so the learning society must be a process within the incomplete project of humanity All three books in the trilogy will be essential reading for students in education HRD and teaching and learning generally in addition to academics and informed practitioners The Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society Trilogy Volume 1 Towards a Comprehensive Theory of Human Learning Volume 2 Globalisation Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society Volume 3 Democracy Lifelong Learning and the Learning Society Peter Jarvis is an internationally renowned expert in the field of adult learning and continuing education He is Professor of Continuing Education at the University of Surrey UK and honorary Adjunct Professor in Adult Education at the University of Georgia USA The Yearbook of the Scientific and Learned Societies of Great Britain and Ireland ,1909 The Year-book of the Scientific and Learned Societies of Great Britain and Ireland ,1916

Democratic Discipline in Learning Communities Clifford H. Edwards, 2011-01-16 This book describes in detail the attributes of learning communities and how these characteristics help students acquire a sense of moral responsibility and commitment to fellow students Clifford H Edwards provides an account of how schools fail to satisfy student needs and thus promote discipline problems Special attention is given to children s need for self direction and how empowering them can promote more responsible learning involvement There is also a focus on the factors that motivate learning and those that do not and how teachers can help their students become more intrinsically interested in school learning Constructivist learning theory is presented as the most accepted explanation of how children learn and how it articulates with the learning community approach to education The inquiry learning strategy is given as the most effective way to apply constructivist learning theory in classrooms Appropriate relationships and effective communications are presented as essential components of learning communities and how they accentuate the effectiveness of this learning orientation Democratic discipline within learning communities is described in detail

EBOOK: E-Learning Groups and Communities David McConnell, 2006-03-16 How can we design networked e learning courses to ensure students participate in them and engage in quality learning outcomes What happens in an e learning course that is designed to foster group work and a sense of community How can we research e learning practice in ways that will enhance the processes of learning and teaching This book outlines approaches to networked e learning course design that are underpinned by a belief that students learn best in these contexts when they are organised in groups and communities As such the book is one of the first to provide a detailed analysis of what goes on in e learning groups and communities But how do students react to working in e learning groups and communities What determines their willingness to adopt new forms of learning in order to participate in these new courses What actually happens in an e learning community and what impact does this have on students and tutors This book examines these key questions through a variety of research approaches aimed at exploring the experience of e learners as they participate in successful e groups and communities It also offers ways in which learning outcomes may be achieved in these communities and outlines the specific skills that students would develop through e learning

E learning Groups and Communities is essential reading for teachers trainers managers researchers and students involved in e learning courses as well as people interested in improving the quality of the learning experience

Practice, Learning and Change Paul Hager, Alison Lee, Ann Reich, 2012-06-25 The three concepts central to this volume practice learning and change have received very different treatments in the educational literature an oversight directly confronted here While learning and change have been extensively theorised their various contexts articulated and analysed practice is notably underrepresented Where much of the literature on learning and change takes the notion of practice as an unexamined given its co location as a term with various classifiers as in legal practice and teaching practice render it curiously devoid of semantic force In this book practice is the super ordinate organising idea Drawing on what has been termed the practice turn in contemporary theory the work develops a conceptual framework for researching learning in and on practice It challenges received notions of practice questioning the assumptions elisions connotations and silences on the subject In so doing it offers fresh insights into learning and change and how they relate to practice In tandem with this conceptual work the book details site ontological studies of practice and learning in diverse professional and workplace contexts examining the work of occupations as various as doctors chefs and orchestral musicians It demonstrates the value of theorising practice learning and change as well as exploring the connections between them amid our evolving social and institutional structures

Professional Development in Relational Learning Communities Miriam B. Raider-Roth, 2017-03-10 In this book

Raider Roth offers an innovative approach to teacher professional development that builds on the intellectual strength and practical wisdom of practitioners Focusing on nurturing relationships between and among participants facilitators subject matter texts and the school environment this book helps educators create a repertoire of teaching approaches founded on sustained deep democratic local and active learning The author demonstrates that within the context of trustworthy relationships teachers can better connect with all that they know about teaching learning and their own identities This in turn enables them to act on what they know in the best interest of their students and leads to the kinds of lasting change and commitment that can move the teaching profession beyond training for a particular skill set Book Features Examples showing how the work of relational learning communities can improve teachers practice A focus on the cultural dimension in professional development for teachers A view of teaching and learning as deeply relational and transformative Strategies to help facilitators and participants create processes to best support a fertile learning environment Post-Capitalist Society

Peter F. Drucker, 2013-10-22 Post Capitalist Society provides an analysis of the transformation of the world into a post capitalist society This transformation which will not be completed until 2010 or 2020 has already changed the political economic social and moral landscape of the world The book reviews and revises the social economic and political history of the Age of Capitalism and of the nation state It argues that the real and controlling resource and the absolutely decisive factor of production is neither capital nor land nor labor It is knowledge Instead of capitalists and proletarians the classes of the post capitalist society are knowledge workers and service workers This book covers a wide range of topics dealing with post capitalist society with post capitalist polity and with new challenges to knowledge itself The focus is on the developed countries on Europe on the United States and Canada on Japan and the newly developed countries on the mainland of Asia rather than on the developing countries of the Third World The areas of discussion Society Polity and Knowledge are arrayed in order of predictability
