

72-HOUR SURVIVAL KIT

Stay alert and keep these items ready this rainy season

EVERYWHERE

WHISTLE

It's bad enough that you don't have a signal on your mobile phone but worse when you run out of battery. When you're in distress and need to draw attention to yourself, having a whistle can help rescuers spot you.

CLOTHES

When it rains, it pours! When you get wet, make sure you have dry clothes to quickly change into. You can't afford to get sick and in times like these, the threat of disease spreading is extremely high.

FLASHLIGHT

When electricity is out, don't be left in the dark. A handy flashlight will be your best guide as you rummage through the darkness.

BOTTLED WATER

You can survive without food but not without water. It's the most important thing on your list and should be the first thing you pack in your survival kit. There are at least 3 liters of water that's good for 3 days.

CELLPHONE

If you're stranded in the middle of nowhere and you need to call for help, your mobile phone will do, just make sure your battery is always full. So hold off on playing Candy Crush for now, your ticket request can wait.

BATTERY-OPERATED RADIO

Keep up-to-date with what's going on in the news. Listen for updates and monitor events following a disaster. Ignoring evacuation instructions could spell the difference between life and death.

READY-TO-EAT FOOD

Food is vital for your survival. Just make sure you pack foods that will last at least 3-7 days. Packaged non-perishable or canned food and boxed juice are best.

EMERGENCY MONEY

ATM offline? Always make sure you have cash on hand just in case you'll need to buy extra supplies.

IMPORTANT DOCUMENTS

When you need to thread on, high waters, it's a good idea to keep your important documents in a waterproof container or resealable plastic bag.

FIRST AID KIT

Whatever the weather is, you should have a first aid kit with you at all times. Just remember, your best defense is a good offense.
