Lawrence,2019-02-20 This collection of essays by the author of Lady Chatterley's Lover presents his musings on literature politics and philosophy in a newly restored text Though D H Lawrence was one of the great writers of the twentieth century his works were severely corrupted by the stringent house styling of printers and the intrusive editing of timid publishers A team of scholars at Cambridge University Press has worked for more than thirty years to restore the definitive texts of D H Lawrence in The Cambridge Editions Between 1915 1925 D H Lawrence wrote a series of philosophicalish essays covering topics ranging from politics to nature and from religion to education Varying in tone from lighthearted humor to spiritual meditation they all share the underlying themes of Lawrence's mature work Be thyself As far as possible the editors of the Cambridge Editions series have restored these essays to their original form as Lawrence wrote them A discussion of the history of each essay is provided and several incomplete and unpublished essays are reproduced in an appendix A

Lifetime Nature Walk Andrew Dequasie,2000-09-20 This book is a collection of essays and anecdotes about 19 animals 18 birds 15 fish 10 reptiles 31 insects 39 plants 17 trees and 6 other subjects encountered in nature by the author mostly in the region from West Virginia to Vermont Hopefully it lends personality to these subjects and leaves the reader with a sense of the changing view of our natural world during the 20th century It is not encyclopedic being limited to things the author has had experience with On the other hand it contains many off beat details not to be found in other references Among stone age peoples one of the important duties the hunter had to fulfill when he returned home was to tell the other members of his tribe where he had been what he had seen and what he had done That is what the author attempts to do in this book For instance he tells of Dealings with raccoons both tame and wild How to rescue a skunk from a storm drain Home made animal traps What constitutes a successful backwoods fox hunt How kingfishers and sparrow hawks mourn their dead Why bluebirds are scarce Why a killdeer will tease a dog Where to find bluegills in the Ohio River or smelt in the Niagara River A box turtle s prediction of dry weather and rain Living where copperheads live Playing with garter snakes How to find a bee tree The very different lives and habits of hornets brown wasps and mud dauber wasps Sleeping with bedbugs The psychological warfare of the deer fly When to look for snow fleas How to recognize chamomile by its aroma The scarcity of ginseng Trouble with jack in the pulpit Using jimson weed to kill flies The forms and effects of poison ivy Why black raspberries grow in smaller patches than red raspberries Making use of elderberries How Indians used acorns as food Growing black walnut trees from seed There are no pictures in this book Those would greatly increase the size and nbs Appalachian Spring

Marcia Bonta,2010-06-15 Marcia Bonta is a naturalist writer who has lived on a 500 acre mountain top farm in central Pennsylvania for twenty years Appalachian Spring is her personal account of that glorious spectacle the coming of the spring to the woods and fields of Appalachia The book begins with spring preliminaries in January and February when gray squirrels mate and the great horned owls conduct their courtship rites Then with the onset of true spring the intricacies of the season unravel day by day in journal entries that combine Bonta s own meticulous observations with the research reported by botanists entomologists and other natural scientists She recounts her hours spent watching an active red fox den or observing the drumming of a male ruffed grouse all without the benefit of a blind She discovers new born fawns on the trail and hen turkeys with their poults in the field A black bear peers into her sitting room window deer play tag in her front yard Birdwatching is an integral part of her spring ritual she records both the return of nesting species and the passing through of migrants She spends a blustery St Patrick s Day following a flock of American pipits foraging in her field discovers and watches an ovenbird nest beside her trail and counts twenty three species of wood warblers during one spectacular day in mid May Every aspect of the natural world catches her eye from tthe life cycle of a tent caterpillar to the sex life of a jack in the pulpit But while she considers her book to ber her own love sone about the place and season on earth she loves most she also mourns the continual exploitation of the natural earth by humanity for its own often superficial uses She hopes by recounting the wonders of the natural world to convert others to what she calls the third stage in humanity s relationship with nature that of empathy with all of nature for its own sake To know the earth better to grasp a little of its workings to look on it with awe and wonder as well as with respect is to want to save it from destruction Exuberance Kay Redfield Jamison,2005-09-13 A national bestselling author examines one of the mind s most exalted states one that is crucially important to learning risk taking social cohesiveness and survival itself Jamison is that rare writer who can offer a kind of unified field theory of science and art The Washington Post Book World With the same grace and breadth of learning she brought to her studies of the mind's pathologies Kay Redfield Jamison examines one of its most exalted states exuberance This abounding ebullient effervescent emotion manifests itself everywhere from child's play to scientific breakthrough Exuberance The Passion for Life introduces us to such notably irrepressible types as Teddy Roosevelt John Muir and Richard Feynman as well as Peter Pan dancing porcupines and Charles Schulz's Snoopy It explores whether exuberance can be inherited parses its neurochemical grammar and documents the methods people have used to stimulate it The resulting book is an irresistible fusion of science and soul

Memoirs of a Porcupine Alain Mabanckou, 2012-04-01 All human beings says an African legend have an animal double Some doubles are benign others wicked This legend comes to life in Alain Mabanckou's outlandish surreal and charmingly nonchalant Memoirs of a Porcupine When Kibandi a boy living in a Congolese village reaches the age of 11 his father takes him out into the night and forces him to drink a vile liquid from a jar that has been hidden for years in the earth This is his initiation From now on he and his double a porcupine become accomplices in murder They attack neighbors fellow villagers and people who simply cross their path for reasons so slight that it is virtually impossible to establish connection between the killings As he grows older Kibandi relies on his double to act out his grizzly compulsions until one day even the porcupine balks and turns instead to literary confession Winner of the Prix Renaudot France's equal to the National Book Award Alain Mabanckou is considered one of the most talented writers today He was selected by the French journal Lire as one of fifty writers to watch this coming century And as Peter Carey suggests he positions himself at the margins tapping the tradition founded by Celine Genet and other subversive writers In this superb and striking story Mabanckou brings new power to magical realism and is sure to excite American audiences nationwide
