future that includes hope Until now hope has never been theorized in a direct sustained way in ecocriticism Hope at Sea makes an argument for hope as a lens for creative and critical confrontation with environmental disruptions and the resulting sense of loss It also reflects on the critical approaches that hope as an analytic category opens up for the study of environmental literature With hope as a critical perspective Shewry develops a method for reading environmental literature literary writers create new ways to apprehend existing environmental realities and craft stories about seas forests cities and rivers that could be not as literal plans but as ways of imagining promising lives in the present world and in the world to come

Climate and Crises Ben Holgate, 2019-01-31 Climate and Crises Magical Realism as Environmental Discourse makes a dual intervention in both world literature and ecocriticism by examining magical realism as an international style of writing that has long standing links with environmental literature The book argues that in the era of climate change when humans are facing the prospect of species extinction new ideas and new forms of expression are required to address what the novelist Amitav Gosh calls a crisis of imagination Magical realism enables writers to portray alternative intellectual paradigms ontologies and epistemologies that typically contest the scientific rationalism derived from the European Enlightenment and the exploitation of natural resources associated with both capitalism and imperialism Climate and Crises explores the overlaps between magical realism and environmental literature including their respective transgressive natures that dismantle binaries such as human and non human a shared biocentric perspective that focuses on the inter connectedness of all things in the universe and frequently a critique of postcolonial legacies in formerly colonised territories The book also challenges conventional conceptions of magical realism arguing they are often influenced by a geographic bias in the construction of the orthodox global canon and instead examines contemporary fiction from Asia including China and Australasia two regions that have been largely neglected by scholarship of the narrative mode As a result the monograph modifies and expands our ideas of what magical realist fiction is

Johnson, 2015-11-16 Australian Fiction as Archival Salvage examines key developments in the field of the Australian postcolonial historical novel from 1989 to the present In parallel with this analysis A Frances Johnson undertakes a unique study of in kind creativity reflecting on how her own nascent historical fiction has been critically and imaginatively shaped and inspired by seminal experiments in the genre by writers as diverse as Kate Grenville Mudrooroo Kim Scott Peter Carey Richard Flanagan and Rohan Wilson Mapping the postcolonial novel against the impact of postcolonial cultural theory and Australian writers intermittent embrace of literary postmodernism this survey is also read against the post millennial history and culture wars which saw politicizations of national debates around history and fierce contestation over the ways stories of Australian pasts have been written

Deleuzian Fabulation and the Scars of History Ronald Bogue, 2010-07-05 The concept of fabulation makes a late appearance in Deleuze s career and in only limited detail but by tracing its connections to other concepts and situating them within Deleuze s general aesthetics Ronald Bogue develops a theory of fabulation which he proposes as the guiding principle of a Deleuzian approach to literary narrative Fabulation he argues entails becoming other experimenting on the real legending and inventing a people to come as well as an understanding of time informed by Deleuze s Chronos Aion distinction and his theory of the three passive syntheses of time In close readings of contemporary novels by Zakes Mda Arundhati Roy Roberto Bolano Assia Djebar and Richard Flanagan he demonstrates the usefulness of fabulation as a critical tool while exploring the problematic relationship between history and story telling which all five novelists adopt as a central thematic concern This is an original and exciting project by a highly respected specialist in the field

Indigenous Transnationalism

Lynda Ng, 2018-11-01

After Aboriginal author Alexis Wright's novel Carpentaria won the Miles Franklin Award in 2007, it rapidly achieved the status of a classic. The novel is widely read and studied in Australia and overseas and valued for its imaginative power, its epic reach and its remarkable use of language. Indigenous Transnationalism brings together eight essays by critics from seven different countries, each analysing Alexis Wright's novel Carpentaria from a distinct national perspective. Taken together, these diverse voices highlight themes from the novel that resonate across cultures and continents: the primacy of the land, the battles that indigenous peoples fight for their language, culture and sovereignty, a concern with the environment and the effects of pollution. At the same time, by comparing the Aboriginal experience to that of other indigenous peoples, they demonstrate the means by which a transnational approach can highlight resistance to or subversion of national prejudices.
