Christopher C. Joyner

Governing The Antarctic Governing The Antarctic:

Governing the Antarctic Olav Schram Stokke, Davor Vidas, 1996 After thirty five years the regime based on the Antarctic Treaty is more vigorous than ever Here leading scholars of international law and international relations examine the effectiveness and legitimacy of this regime by asking two questions are current changes affecting the regime s ability to cope with major problems in the region and how do those changes affect its standing amongst parties to the Treaty and in the wider international community Individual chapters deal with the Antarctic regimes for marine living resources mineral activities environmental protection and tourism Throughout a keen eye is kept on how those components interact and reinforce each other This analysis is supported by in depth studies of compatibility and tension between the Antarctic Treaty System and the international community at large It also draws upon case studies of how domestic concerns and decision making in four selected countries affect international co operation in the Antarctic

The Emerging Politics of

Antarctica Anne-Marie Brady, 2013 This book examines the post Cold War challenges facing Antarctic governance It seeks to understand the interests of new players in Antarctic affairs such as China India Korea and Malaysia and how other key players such as Russia and the USA or claimant states such as New Zealand or France are coping in the new global order Antarctica is the world's fifth largest continent and its territories are claimed by seven different states Since 1961 Antarctica has been managed under the Antarctic Treaty System ATS a regime which according to its critics by the terms of its membership effectively excludes most of the nations of the world This book examines the post Cold War challenges facing Antarctic governance and is organized thematically into three sections Part 1 considers the role of Antarctic politics in the current post Cold War post colonial era and the impact this new political environment is having on the ATS Part 2 looks at the competing foreign policy objectives of a representative range of countries with Antarctic activities Part 3 examines issues that have the potential to destabilise the order of the Antarctic Treaty System such as unrestricted tourism and new advances in science and technology The Emerging Politics of Antarctica will be of interest to students and scholars of international politics polar studies and foreign policy studies

Decoding Marine Genetic Resource Governance Under the BBNJ Agreement Fran Humphries, 2025-02-03 This open access book provides practical guidance for understanding the new treaty adopted in June 2023 that will change the way biodiversity is governed in about two thirds of the oceans known as areas beyond national jurisdiction ABNJ The Agreement under the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea on the Conservation and Sustainable Use of Marine Biological Diversity of Areas Beyond National Jurisdiction is an achievement for global cooperation in conservation sustainability and equity The treaty provisions in Part II on Marine Genetic Resource MGR governance were the most contentious element of negotiations resulting in significant innovation and compromise It has an ambitious framework with many details yet to be fleshed out after the treaty comes into force There is no comprehensive guidance for stakeholders about what the treaty means for their current and future research and development R D and commercialisation of MGR of ABNJ digital sequence information and associated traditional knowledge Through a detailed commentary and real world examples this book interprets and analyses the treaty text to offer practical considerations guidelines and tools to assist policy makers as well as scientists and commercial end users to align their R D practices with the expected implementation of the treaty

Performance assessment of bycatch and discards governance by regional fisheries management organizations, The Law and Governance of Mining and Minerals Ana Elizabeth Bastida, 2020-12-10 This book explores a disciplinary matrix for the study of the law and governance concerning mining and minerals from a global perspective The book considers the key challenges of achieving the goals of Agenda 2030 and the transition to low carbon circular economies The perspective encompasses the multi faceted and highly complex interaction of multiple fields of international law and policy soft law and standards domestic laws and regulations as well as local levels of ordering of social relations What emerges is a largely neglected unsystematised and under theorised field of study which lies at the intersection of the global economy environmental sustainability human rights and social equity But it also underlies the many loopholes to address at all levels most notably at the local level land and land holders artisanal miners ecosystems local economies local linkages and development The book calls for a truly cosmopolitan academic discipline to be built and identifies challenges to do so It also sets a research agenda for further studies in this fast changing field

International Governance of the Arctic Marine Environment Lilly Weidemann,2014-04-09 The Arctic is particularly affected by climate change over the past few decades temperatures in this area have risen twice as fast as the mean global rate The most prominent effect of global climate change in the region is the melting sea ice in the Arctic Ocean which enables a multitude of ocean uses to be initiated and extended such as shipping fishing and oil and gas extraction Unlike in the Antarctic there is currently no single comprehensive legal regime for governance of the Arctic Instead the region is regulated by a patchwork of international treaties above all the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea UNCLOS various regional and sub regional agreements national laws and soft law agreements This treatise provides an evaluation of the governance regime that regulates the use of the Arctic marine environment and its readiness to protect these fragile ecosystems in light of the consequences of climate change

The IMLI Treatise On Global Ocean Governance David Joseph Attard,David M Ong,Dino Kritsiotis,2018-07-11 The 1982 United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea UNCLOS remains the cornerstone of global ocean governance However it lacks effective provisions or mechanisms to ensure that all ocean space and related problems are dealt with holistically With seemingly no opportunity for revision due to the Conventions burdensome amendment provisions complementary mechanisms dealing with such aspects of global ocean governance including maritime transport fisheries and marine environmental sustainability have been developed under the aegis of the United Nations and other relevant international organizations This approach is inherently fragmented and unable to achieve sustainable global ocean governance In light of the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs particularly Goal 14 the IMLI Treatise proposes a new paradigm on the basis of integrated and cross sectoral approach in order to realise a more effective and sustainable governance regime for the oceans This volume focuses on the role of UN as the central intergovernmental organization responsible for global ocean governance It examines the ocean governance challenges and how the present legal policy and institutional frameworks of the UN have addressed these challenges It identifies the strengths and weaknesses of UN legal structures and offers tangible proposals to realize the ambition of a global ocean governance system

Governing Antarctica Yelena Yermakova,2021 The Multi-level Governance of Space Mining Antonino Salmeri,2023-02-07 Aerospace Law and Policy Series Volume 24 Space mining holds the potential to revolutionize the space sector but whether this revolution will be for good or for worse depends on how it will be governed Under the right framework space resource activities can enable a new era of prosperous and sustainable space exploration But with the wrong rules or lack thereof they have the potential to destabilize the peaceful and cooperative uses of space This book provides an in depth analysis of how the systemic nature of international law existing provisions of international space law and a growing number of national legislations are shaping the multi level governance of space mining including an unprecedented assessment of possible adjudication and enforcement options The author investigates the multi level framework of space law provision by provision foregrounding relevant implications for the governance of space mining Questions addressed include the following Which national and international provisions govern the conduct of space resource activities Are these provisions sufficient and can they be enforced How can we evolve the existing framework to govern large scale long term space resource activities What practical lessons can be learnt from comparable regulatory regimes governing the sea telecommunications and Antarctica The author moves from general to particular beginning with the status of international law as a legal order and ending with the specific options available for enforcing norms applicable to space mining The book concludes by evaluating the tenure of the current governance system and proposing three pragmatic correctives to stabilize it in the short medium and long term Professionals and academics involved or interested in space mining will find this book indispensable It will provide them with a full and clear picture of the regulatory status quo as well as with expert advice on how to navigate the complex dynamics of contemporary policymaking efforts in this area Space mining operators can further use this book to understand the implications of domestic and international provisions applicable to their activities Finally regulators and policymakers can leverage the analysis conducted in this book to identify the key aspects to be addressed for the safe sustainable rational and peaceful conduct of space resource activities in accordance with international law and as the province of all humankind

Assessing the Antarctic Environment from a Climate Change Perspective Neloy Khare, 2022-01-01 The present book covers diversified contributions addressing the impact of climate change on the Antarctic environment It covers the reconstruction of environmental changes using different proxies The chapters focus on the glacial history glacial geomorphology sedimentology and geochemistry of Antarctic region Furthermore the Cenozoic evolution of the Antarctic ice sheet is discussed along with a Scientometrics analysis of climate change research The book serves as a useful reference for researchers who are fascinated by the polar region and environmental research
