Instructions for the Patient

1. Please draw a house on the paper provided. Try to include as many details as you can, like windows, a door, and a roof.
2. Now, please draw a tree next to the house. Make sure to include details like the trunk, branches, and leaves.
3. Lastly, draw a person standing near the house or tree. Add as many details as you like such as eyes, hair, and clothes.

Remember, there is no right or wrong way to draw. Just do your best! Take your time and don't worry if it's not perfect.

Instructions for the Caretaker (if applicable)

- Please ensure the child has a comfortable place to draw.
- Encourage the child to complete the drawings without interference.
- If the child asks for guidance, kindly remind them to draw whatever comes to their mind.

Draw the house, tree, and person below

Interpreting Projective Drawings Marvin Leibowitz, 2013-06-17 The use of drawings to discover emotions attitudes and personality traits not verbally stated by a client is a valuable and widely used technique in psychoanalysis and psychotherapy In this book the author offers a highly practical introduction to the use and interpretation of projective drawings Grounding his approach in self psychology Dr Leibowitz provides detailed information on how to interpret house tree man woman and animal drawings By pairing clinical case examples with general interpretation guidelines the book offers a thorough examination of projective drawings making it a valuable text for beginners and an important reference source for the seasoned clinician Interpreting Projective Drawings contains an impressive array of drawings with over 175 total illustrations Almost half of these drawings are from comprehensive case studies that follow adult patients from the beginning phase of treatment to their one year or more status These include over 30 chromatic illustrations that clearly demonstrate the importance of color in projective drawing interpretation In addition to detailed information on how to interpret these five types of achromatic and chromatic drawings the book also contains an appendix that offers examiner instructions instructions for self administration and adjective lists to aid in interpretation Together these components make Interpreting Projective Drawings an essential resource for any mental health professional interested in using drawings to their fullest effect in their practice

Psychonephrology 1 Norman B. Levy, 2013-06-29 Major nephrological and psychological organizations have at best set aside only small portions of their programs for papers or panels devoted to the psychological aspect of patients with end stage renal disease Thus the increased need for information concerning the psychological aspects of end stage renal disease has been met by occasional journal articles professional peer discussions small portions of national conferences and informal conversations and consultations with people with clinical and research experience in these areas The First International Conference on Psychological Factors in Hemodialysis and Transplantation arose out of a need to have a forum in which the major people involved in treatment and research in this area could share their latest work among themselves and with the registrants The initial encouragement for organizing such a conference came from the rank and file of nephrology social workers nephrology nurses and liaison psychiatrists and psychologists In early 1977 I had decided that I would make an effort to organize such a meeting and asked the two other individuals most closely identified with major research in this area Atara Kaplan De Nour and Harry S Abram to join me in planning this conference With their support and suggestions concerning the program I embarked upon an attempt to raise financial backing for it I was somewhat surprised to find that the many equipment and drug companies supporting nephrological conferences were not greatly interested in this one Advances in the House-tree-person
