Conclusions, and Recommendations Richard L. Dueker,1995      The Safety of Elderly Drivers J. Peter Rothe,2020-03-12

By the turn of the century the elderly will comprise about 20 percent of the population in North America and 28 percent of those who drive. Place this percentage in high powered automobiles and the need for planning and policy development becomes evident. Most standard research on elderly drivers has not gone beyond gathering data on specific situations or characteristics. This book rises beyond simple statistical presentation. It blends sociological insight with statistical detail to produce an absorbing description of the elderly drivers' daily lives, driving styles, experiences with accident and injury, social relationships, and life aspirations. It also describes areas of neglect, imagined and real health problems, driving exposure, and traffic violations, accidents, and loss of self esteem. It presents in depth accounts of the trauma of loss of license and the importance of the automobile for sustaining mental, physical, and social well being. The self imposed or self defined rules elderly drivers use to navigate traffic or compensate for physical frailties are described in depth. The Safety of Elderly Drivers includes penetrating comments from elderly drivers who have been involved in serious accidents and from random elderly drivers speaking for their generation of drivers. Integrating statistical findings based on Motor Vehicle Department accident data and survey data with comprehensive interviews and discussions with elderly drivers, the book provides an empirically grounded in depth view of the elderly driver today. Rothe summarizes theories and models of aging along with past research on elderly drivers, projecting what the future may hold. If present trends in medicine, housing, politics, migration, and mass transit continue, it closes with a series of recommendations for future traffic planning. This book will be of interest to policymakers concerned with traffic safety as well as social scientists and others interested in gerontological issues.

Driver's Education Grant Tinker,2013-01-08 He is a big man, my granddad, not necessarily in size or proportion but in other ways like the manner in which he lives. The trouble in which he finds himself, the magic that he conjures, and the spectacular things he believes. When he was a younger man, Alistair McPhee was fond of escaping in his 56 Chevy Bel Air, Lucy, named for the cherished wife who died and left him and their nine year old son, Colin, behind. Yearning for a way to connect to his itinerant father, Colin turned to writing screenplays inspired by the classic films they used to watch together while Colin's own son, Finn, grew up listening to his grandfather spin tales of danger, heartbreak, and redemption on the road. Now at the end of his life and wishing to feel the wind in his hair one last time, Alistair charges his grandson with a task: bring Lucy to him in San Francisco from New York where a man named Yip has been keeping her safe. The long road west will lead Finn accompanied by his disgruntled friend Randal and an ancient three legged orange cat named Mrs Dalloway through the very cities that supposedly bore witness to Alistair's greatest adventures, offering an unlikely lesson in the differences between facts and truth, between boys and men. Driver's Education is at once a literary adventure and a finely detailed family portrait combining in a bold declaration of Grant Tinker's outstanding storytelling gifts.      Highway Traveler ,1935-02
