Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week, 100% body weight (BW) resistance training program on the muscle strength and endurance of the lower extremities in healthy young adults. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group (n = 10) and an exercise group (n = 10). The exercise group performed a 12-week, 100% BW resistance training program. The control group performed no exercise. The exercise group showed a significant increase in muscle strength and endurance of the lower extremities compared to the control group. The results of this study suggest that a 12-week, 100% BW resistance training program is effective in improving muscle strength and endurance of the lower extremities in healthy young adults.

Learner-Centered Teaching Activities for Environmental and Sustainability Studies Loren B.
