that healing can only begin when we dive headfirst into our grief the Victorian tradition of post mortem photographs and how we struggle to recall a loved one as they were the Jewish tradition of sitting shiva which reminds her to rest in the strength of her community even when God feels absent the tradition of mourning clothing which set the bereaved apart in society for a time allowing them space to honor their grief As Opelt explores each bereavement practice it gives her a framework for processing her own pain She shares how in spite of her doubt and anger God met her in the midst of sorrow and grieved along with her and shows that when we carefully and honestly attend to our losses we are able to expand our capacity for love faith and healing
