Leadership Perspectives on Effective Intergenerational Communication and Management Ince,

Fatma, 2023-01-23 Rapid developments are taking place within society and organizations They demand a flexible responsive and competent workforce Demographic shifts and the increasing shortfall of young workers have resulted in increasing demand for the intergenerational workplace Retaining multicultural workers is practiced in some countries to make use of their rich expertise Experienced older workers are no longer seen as a burden to the economy On the contrary practices such as senior entrepreneurship are also popular Similarly while technological development and differences among employees are discussed in leadership issues diversity is also included Leadership Perspectives on Effective Intergenerational Communication and Management examines the differences between monocultural workers and intergenerational workers in Western and Eastern companies It investigates the technological developments such as Industry 4 0 at the societal or industry levels Covering topics such as intergenerational diversity organizational interactions and employee satisfaction this premier reference source is an excellent resource for business leaders and executives human resource managers sociologists students and educators of higher education librarians researchers and academicians Research Management And Methodology Dr. Sanvedi Rane, Dr. András Szeberényi, Dr. Ahmad A I Shajrawi, Dr. Vidhya Sadhu Kshirsagar, 2022-12-23 Management research is a methodical study that supplies knowledge to aid in managing choice a hypothesis put out by prominent researchers states Management factors such as group decision making policy decision making individual decision making etc are studied as part of the organization's management research. Surveys, website traffic, quantitative, qualitative studies, interviews, management studies, focus groups, market studies, and a slew of other methods all contribute to the intricate process that is business research. In-depth reports on the state of every facet of a company are provided. Full-scale business research often combines the results of many separate studies. In contrast, management research focuses only on investigating an organization's management team. The goal of management research is to get contextually relevant data about the management of a certain firm. Management studies focus on the relationships between upper and lower management. To conduct research that has credibility and produces results grounded in science requires a solid approach. In addition, the plan's specifics help researchers stay on track, resulting in a more efficient, less stressful, and easier-to-manage overall process. A researcher's methodology sheds light on the thought process and procedures that led to the study's findings.
