

meet its deliverable date unless it reduces the quality of the materials you've ordered. What should you do next?

Your Response:

Consult with your stakeholders to see if a change in quality is acceptable.

Good Choice! Before you make a trade-off that reduces quality, it is crucial to get buy in from stakeholders.

3. You work for a successful regional bank. You have been assigned to develop a new loyalty rewards program and integrate it throughout the bank. You need a reporting tool that will help each department monitor how its part of the product launch affects other departments—and how it is affected by other departments. Which scheduling tool would be the most appropriate?

Your Response:

A PERT chart.

Good Choice! The PERT chart shows all tasks in progress at a given time, with their dependencies, resources, costs, and risks. This tool is useful for assessing the impact of a change in one aspect of the work of a project.

4. You have a team that is building a new marketing web site. Gathering content is a large, time-consuming task. Some of the team members have different skill sets and cannot build the site. What is your best course of action to manage this situation?

Your Response:

Identify team capabilities and address resources or gaps. Develop a PERT chart to see if the team can complete the project, or if you need to add resources or change resources or the scope.

5. Which of the following strategies is most likely to result in a change in customer service? Select the best response to manage this situation.
