Interspersed among them are tall, slender spikes of purple flowers, likely Salvia (Sage). The plants are surrounded by green foliage and tall, thin grasses that fill the upper portion of the frame. The overall lighting is bright, suggesting a sunny day.

Landscapes Gardens George Hargreaves:

Landscapes & Gardens George Hargreaves, Mary Margaret Jones, Gavin McMillan, 2015 Using ten landscape architectural projects on three continents Landscapes and Gardens presents the case for green landscapes and public gardens in the city. The authors discuss through short essays their approach to public open space, green landscapes and human scaled gardens. Highlighting strategies for the design of public landscapes and gardens, the use of appropriate materials and plant species, and how site and climate influence the final design. Landscapes and Gardens is a lush collection of beautiful images of gardens, big and small, providing inspiration for those who love parks, gardens and gardening. Long focused on the importance of public space and specifically green public space, the authors recognize landscape as the primary wish by the public. As programmed elements come and go, the landscape is there for the long term and can adjust to the changing uses of our public space. Within the landscape, the garden offers meaning as it ties back to the cultural, the natural and the agricultural. Like the landscapes they inhabit, public gardens must be robust. The design must be bold and simple, retaining the qualities of the garden that we enjoy so much: colors, plant structures, textures and seasonal changes that delight. The landscapes and gardens included in the book provide examples of strategies by which the balance of robustness and richness can be achieved in gardens set within public parks in the city. The themes employed by Hargreaves Associates promote the garden as a critical element of the public park and cultural landscape, creating public gardens that provide a direct personal connection to nature, quiet respite and rich inspiration.

100 20th-Century Gardens and Landscapes Twentieth Century Society, 2020-04-01 A showcase of Britain's most extraordinary gardens and landscapes from the twentieth century to present day. 100 20th Century Gardens and Landscapes highlights the evolution of gardens and landscapes over the past century, tracing how these distinctive creations complemented buildings of their period. Entries in this book are grouped in chronological periods, documenting changing styles and techniques in a visual timeline. The examples chosen take the story from the Arts and Crafts garden and the garden city through the landscapes created for mid-century housing and the new towns to the low maintenance gardens of the 1980s and contemporary trends for community and wildlife gardens. Designed landscapes were often integral to the conception of twentieth-century developments; the inclusion of a handful of particularly successful landscapes for memorial gardens, offices, industry, transport and parks demonstrate a changing attitude to public green space during the century and its increasing importance as private gardens have become ever smaller. Designers and architects such as Piet Oudolf, Charles Jencks, Frederick Gibberd, Geoffrey Jellicoe, Vita Sackville West and Gertrude Jekyll are all featured alongside more detailed essays on the history of gardens, planting styles, the importance of modern landscapes and the career of Geoffrey Jellicoe. The text is written by architectural landscape and garden historians including Elain Harwood, Barbara Simms and Alan Powers. Beautifully illustrated throughout with photography, illustrations and garden plans, this book is ideal for gardeners and landscape lovers alike.

Unearthed Karen M'Closkey, 2013-06-14 The work of landscape architecture firm Hargreaves Associates is globally renowned from the 21st Century Waterfront in Chattanooga Tennessee to London's 2012 Olympic Park. Founded by George Hargreaves in 1983, this team of designers has transformed numerous abandoned sites into topographically and functionally diverse landscapes. Hargreaves Associates' body of work reflects the socioeconomic and legislative changes that have impacted landscape architecture over the past three decades, particularly the availability of former industrial sites and their subsequent redevelopment into parks. The firm's longstanding interest in such projects brings it into frequent contact with the communities and local authorities who use and live in these built environments, which tend to be contested grounds owing to the conflicting claims of the populations and municipalities that use and manage them. As microcosms of contemporary political, social, and economic terrains, these designed spaces signify larger issues in urban redevelopment and landscape design.

The first scholarly examination of the firm's philosophy and body of work, Unearthed, uses Hargreaves Associates' portfolio to illustrate the key challenges and opportunities of designing today's public spaces. Illustrated with more than one hundred and fifty color and black and white images, this study explores the methods behind canonical Hargreaves Associates sites such as San Francisco's Crissy Field, Sydney Olympic Park, and the Louisville Waterfront Park. M. Closkey outlines how Hargreaves and his longtime associate Mary Margaret Jones approach the design of public places conceptually, materially, and formally on sites that require significant remaking in order to support a greater range of ecological and social needs.

Of Gardens Paula Deitz, 2011-11-29 Paula Deitz has delighted readers for more than thirty years with her vivid descriptions of both famous and hidden landscapes. Her writings allow readers to share in the experience of her extensive travels from the waterways of Britain's Castle Howard to the Japanese gardens of Kyoto and home again to New York City's Central Park. Collected for the first time, the essays in Of Gardens record her great adventure of continual discovery, not only of the artful beauty of individual gardens but also of the intellectual and historical threads that weave them into patterns of civilization, from the modest garden for family subsistence to major urban developments. Deitz's essays describe how people over many centuries and in many lands have expressed their originality by devoting themselves to cultivation and conservation. During a visit to the Abby Aldrich Rockefeller Garden in Seal Harbor, Maine, Deitz first came to appreciate the notion that landscape architecture can be as intricately conceived as any major structure and is indeed the means by which we redeem the natural environment through design. Years later, as she wandered through the gardens of Versailles, she realized that because gardens give structure without confinement, they encourage a liberation of movement and thought. In Of Gardens, we follow Deitz down paths of revelation, viewing a bouquet of British Parks, Liverpool, Edinburgh, and London; the parks and promenades of Jerusalem; the Moonlight Garden of the Taj Mahal; a Tuscan style villa in southern California; and the rooftop garden at Tokyo's Mori Center, among many other sites. Deitz covers individual landscape architects and designers including Andr  Le N tre, Frederick Law Olmsted, Beatrix Farrand, Russell Page, and Michael Van Valkenburgh. She then features an array of parks, public places, and gardens before turning her attention to

Meaning in Landscape Architecture and Gardens Marc Treib, 2011-03-01 While we all live our lives in designed landscapes of various types only on occasion do we consider what these landscapes mean to us and how they have acquired that significance Can a landscape architect or garden designer really imbue new settings with meaning or does meaning evolve over time created by those who perceive and use these landscapes What role does the selection and arrangement of plants and hard materials play in this process and just where does the passage of time enter into the equation These questions collectively provide the core material for Meaning in Landscape Architecture and Gardens a compendium of four landmark essays written over a period of twenty years by leading scholars in the field of landscape architecture New commentaries by the authors accompany each of the essays and reflect on the thinking behind them as well as the evolution of the author's thoughts since their original publication Although the central theme of these writings is landscape architecture broadly taken the principal subject of several essays and commentaries is the garden a subject historically plentiful in allusions and metaphors As a whole Meaning in Landscape Architecture and Gardens offers the general reader as well as the professional a rich source of ideas about the designed landscape and the ways by which we perceive consider react and dwell within them and what they mean to us The essays have been perennial favorites in landscape courses since their original publication in Landscape Journal Bringing them together bolstered by the new commentaries creates a book valuable to all those creating gardens and landscapes as well as those teaching and studying these subjects
