Remembering the Cultural Geographies of a Childhood Home Peter Hughes Jachimiak, 2016-04-08 Using an innovative auto ethnographic approach to investigate the otherness of the places that make up the childhood home and its neighbourhood in relation to memory derived and memory imbued cultural geographies Remembering the Cultural Geographies of a Childhood Home is concerned with childhood spaces and children's perspectives of those spaces and consequentially with the personalised locations that make up the childhood family home and its immediate surroundings such as the garden the street etc Whilst this book is primarily structured by the author's memories of living in his own Welsh childhood home during the 1970s that is the auto ethnographic framework it is as much about living anywhere amid the remembered cultural remnants of the past as it is immersing oneself in cultural geographies of the here and now As a result Remembering the Cultural Geographies of a Childhood Home is part of the ongoing pursuit by cultural geographers to provide a personal exploration of the pluralities of shared landscapes whereby such an engagement with space and place aid our construction of cognitive maps of meaning that in turn manifest themselves as both individual and collective cultural experiences Furthermore touching upon our co habiting of ghost topologies Remembering the Cultural Geographies of a Childhood Home also encourages a critical exploration of children's spirituality amid the haunted cultural and geographical spaces and places of a house and its neighbourhood the cellar hallway parlour stairs bedroom attic shops cemeteries and so on Britain and the Sea Glen O'Hara, 2010-06-30 O'Hara presents the first general history of Britons relationship with the surrounding oceans from 1600 to the present day This all encompassing account covers individual seafarers ship borne migration warfare and the maritime economy as well as the British people's maritime ideas and self perception throughout the centuries Funerary Culture and the Limits of Secularization in Denmark Anne Kjaersgaard, 2017 Considered one of the most irreligious countries in the world in spite of continued religious affiliation of the majority of the population Denmark is an important case to explore the limits of secularization This study challenges the secularization thesis from the perspective of lived religion innovatively examining death related behaviour and hitherto overlooked religion in relation to organ donation churchyard design grave visiting rituals and graveyard photographs Dissertation Series Death Studies Nijmegen Studies in Thanatology Vol 4 Subject Danish Studies Religious Studies Death Studies Materialities of Passing Peter Bjerregaard, Anders Emil Rasmussen, Tim Flohr Sørensen, 2016-03-17 Passing is a common euphemism for the death of a person as he or she is said to pass away or pass on This open ended saying has at its heart a notion of transformation from one state to another which in turn grants the possibility of grasping or approximating the passage of time and the materiality of death and decay This book begins with the idea that since all material things whether animals human beings objects or buildings undergo some form of passing then the specific transformation in these passages and the materiality actively given to it can offer us a grasp of otherwise precarious temporalities It examines how human beings strive to relate to the temporal dimension of death and decay by giving new shape and direction to being and by examining its natural transformations Focusing on the materiality of passing and thereby the relationship between embodiment temporality and death Materialities of Passing offers rich case studies from Europe Papua New Guinea South Africa and the Russian Far East for exploring the material spatial and directional aspects of the very interface between life and death As such it will appeal to scholars of anthropology death studies archaeology philosophy and cultural studies The Wiley Blackwell Handbook of Humanism Andrew Copson,A. The Routledge Handbook of Museums, Heritage, and Death Trish Biers, Katie Stringer Clary, 2023-07-26 This book provides a comprehensive examination of death dying and human remains in museums and heritage sites around the world Presenting a diverse range of contributions from scholars practitioners and artists the book reminds us that death and the dead body are omnipresent in museum and heritage spaces Chapters appraise collection practices and their historical context present global perspectives and potential resolutions and suggest how death and dying should be presented to the public Acknowledging that professionals in the galleries libraries archives and museums GLAM fields are engaging in vital discussions about repatriation and anti colonialist narratives the book includes reflections on a variety of deathscapes that are at the forefront of the debate Taking a multivocal approach the handbook provides a foundation for debate as well as a reference for how the dead are treated within the public arena Most important perhaps the book highlights best practices and calls for more ethical frameworks and strategies for collaboration particularly with descendant communities The Routledge Handbook of Museums Heritage and Death will be useful to all individuals working with studying and interested in curation and exhibition at museums and heritage sites around the world It will be of particular interest to those working in the fields of heritage museum studies death studies archaeology anthropology sociology and history

The Archaeology of Death in Post-medieval Europe Sarah Tarlow, 2015-01-01 Historical burial grounds are an enormous archaeological resource and have the potential to inform studies not only of demography or the history of disease and mortality but also histories of the body of religious and other beliefs about death of changing social relationships values and aspirations In the last decades the intensive urban development and a widespread legal requirement to undertake archaeological excavation of historical sites has led to a massive increase in the number of post medieval graveyards and burial places that have been subjected to archaeological investigation The archaeology of the more recent periods which are comparatively well documented is no less interesting and important an area of study than prehistoric periods This volume offers a range of case studies and reflections on aspects of death and burial in post medieval Europe Looking at burial goods the spatial aspects of cemetery organisation and the way that the living interact with the dead contributors who have worked on sites from Central North and West Europe present some of their evidence and ideas The coherence of the volume is maintained by a substantial integrative introduction by the editor Professor Sarah Tarlow This book is a first and a necessary one It is an exciting and far ranging collection of studies on post medieval burial practice across Europe that will most certainly be used extensively

Professor Howard Williams Nordic Classicism John Stewart, 2018-09-06 Nordic Classicism presents the first English language survey of an important yet short lived movement in modern architectural history It was through the Nordic classical movement that Scandinavian architecture first attracted international attention It was the Nordic Pavilions rather than Le Corbusier's modernism which generated most admiration at the 1925 World Fair and it was the Nordic classical architects including Gunnar Asplund Sigurd Lewerentz and Alvar Aalto who went on to establish Scandinavia's reputation for modern design Yet this brief classical movement was quickly eclipsed by the rise of international modernism and has often been overlooked in architectural studies The book explores the lives and works of various key contributors to Nordic classicism with eleven chapters each focussing on a different architect and on one of the period's outstanding works including the Stockholm Central Library the Resurrection Chapel and the Woodland Cemetery Famous architects and their works are examined alongside many lesser known examples to provide a comprehensive and in depth account As we approach the centenary of many of the events to which the book refers now is a timely opportunity to explore the key themes of the Nordic classical movement its architects their buildings and the social and cultural changes to which they were responding

Emotion, Place and Culture Mick Smith, Liz Bondi, 2016-05-06 Recent years have witnessed a rapid rise in engagement with emotion and affect across a broad range of disciplines in the humanities and social sciences with geographers among others making a significant contribution by examining the emotional intersections between people and places Building on the achievements of Emotional Geographies 2005 the editors have brought together leading scholars such as Nigel Thrift Alphonso Lingis and Frances Dyson as well as young up and coming academics from a diverse range of disciplines to investigate feelings and affect in various spatial and social contexts environments and landscapes The book is divided into five sections covering the themes of remembering understanding mourning belonging and enchanting The Memorial to the Missing of the Somme Gavin Stamp, 2010-08-06 Edwin Lutyens Memorial to the Missing of the Somme at Thiepval in Northern France visited annually by tens of thousands of tourists is arguably the finest structure erected by any British architect in the twentieth century. It is the principal tangible expression of the defining event in Britain's experience and memory of the Great War: the first day of the Battle of the Somme on 1 July 1916, and it bears the names of 73,000 soldiers whose bodies were never found at the end of that bloody and futile campaign. This brilliant study by an acclaimed architectural historian tells the origin of the memorial in the context of commemorating the war dead; it considers the giant classical brick arch in architectural terms and also explores its wider historical significance and its resonances today. So much of the meaning of the twentieth century is concentrated here: the Thiepval Memorial to the Missing casts a shadow into the future, a shadow which extends beyond the dead of the Holocaust to the Gulag to the disappeared of South America and of Tiananmen. Reissued in a beautiful and striking new edition for the centenary of the Somme.

Deathscapes James D. Sidaway, 2016-05-13. Death is at once a universal and everyday but also an extraordinary experience in the lives of those affected. Death and bereavement are thereby intensified at and frequently contained within certain sites and regulated spaces such as the hospital, the cemetery and the mortuary. However, death also affects and unfolds in many other spaces: the home, public spaces and places of worship, sites of accident, tragedy and violence. Such spaces or Deathscapes are intensely private and personal places while often simultaneously being shared, collective sites of experience and remembrance, each place mediated through the intersections of emotion, body, belief, culture, society and the state. Bringing together geographers, sociologists, anthropologists, cultural studies academics and historians among others, this book focuses on the relationships between space, place and death, bereavement in western societies. Addressing three broad themes: the place of death, the place of final disposition and spaces of remembrance and representation, the chapters reflect a variety of scales ranging from the mapping of bereavement on the individual or in private domestic space through to sites of accident, battle, burial, cremation and remembrance in public space. The book also examines social and cultural changes in death and bereavement practices including personalisation and secularisation. Other social trends are addressed by chapters on green and garden burial, negotiating emotion in public/private space, remembrance of violence and disaster and virtual space. A meshing of material and more than representational approaches consider the nature, culture, economy and politics of Deathscapes: what are in effect some of the most significant places in human society.

Death and Garden Narratives in Literature, Art, and Film
Feryal Cubukcu, Sabine Planka, 2020-07-30. Death and Garden Narratives in Literature, Art and Film. Song of Death in Paradise explores the combination of two motifs, death and gardens, to show how the two subjects are intertwined and used in various media and cultural contexts. Using cultural, literary, film and art history theories, the contributors analyze various death and garden sceneries in literary works by Arthur Machen, Agatha Christie, J. K. Rowling as well as in superhero comics, films and cultural and art contexts such as Ian Hamilton Finley's Little Sparta, the poetic verses
