The Reception of Northrop Frye, 2021-08-31 The widespread opinion is that Northrop Frye's influence reached its zenith in the 1960s and 1970s after which point he became obsolete his work buried in obscurity This almost universal opinion is summed up in Terry Eagleton's 1983 rhetorical question Who now reads Frye In The Reception of Northrop Frye Robert D Denham catalogues what has been written about Frye books articles translations dissertations and theses and reviews in order to demonstrate that the attention Frye's work has received from the beginning has progressed at a geomantic rate Denham also explores what we can discover once we have a fairly complete record of Frye's reception in front of us such as Hayden White's theory of emplotments applied to historical writing and Byron Alm's theory of musical narrative The sheer quantity of what has been written about Frye reveals that the only valid response to Eagleton's rhetorical question is a very large and growing number the growth being not incremental but exponential

Teletechnologies, Place, and Community Rowan Wilken, 2014-02-07 Teletechnologies or technologies of distance cannot be ignored Indeed the present electronic age is said to have wrought profound changes to how we think about and experience who we are where we are and how we relate with one another Place and community have traditionally formed key concepts for thinking about these issues but what relevance do these concepts now hold for us In this wide ranging study Wilken re-evaluates how ideas of place and community intersect with and help us make sense of a world transformed by information and communication technologies This interdisciplinary investigation ranges across diverse textual and contextual terrain exploring approaches from media and communications architectural history and theory philosophy sociology geography literature and urban design The rich analysis of these myriad texts reveals the complex and at times contradictory ways in which notions of place and community circulate in relation to these technologies of distance Wilken's examination underscores both the enduring importance of ideas of place and community in the present age and the urgent need to continue to engage with think about and reconfigure these twin ideas

Deeper Than Oblivion Raz Yosef, Boaz Hagin, 2016-05-19 In this collection leading scholars in both film studies and Israeli studies show that beyond representing familiar historical accounts or striving to offer a more complete and accurate depiction of the past Israeli cinema has innovatively used trauma and memory to offer insights about Israeli society and to engage with cinematic experimentation and invention Tracing a long line of films from the 1940s up to the 2000s the contributors use close readings of these films not only to reconstruct the past but also to actively engage with it Addressing both high profile and lesser known fiction and non-fiction Israeli films Deeper than Oblivion underlines the unique aesthetic choices many of these films make in their attempt to confront the difficulties perhaps even impossibility of representing trauma By looking at recent and classic examples of Israeli films that turn to memory and trauma this book addresses the pressing issues and disputes in the field

Kong,2016-12-05 Within the context of Miguel de Cervantes Saavedra and his influence on Jorge Luis Borges Manuel Puig and Gabriel Marquez Paul Kong brings a variety of theoretical perspectives to bear as he analyzes the concepts of the archive and the manuscript Setting the stage with an exploration of the intricate and intriguing relationship between the archive and the manuscript Kong questions the apparently natural association between the two In the light of Kong s historically contextualized and patient exegesis the ideological nature of the archive evident in its charge to serve as a totalizing habitat stands in contrast with the manuscript that resists attempts to contain it The playful responses of Borges Puig and Marquez as they mine the archive of Cervantes works support the anti colonial dimension of Latin American literature and further problematize the relationship between archive and manuscript The book concludes with a discussion of the future of archival discourse especially in the setting of the virtual reality of the Internet and of globalization Carefully grounded by Kong s close readings and supported by a wealth of astute references and allusions to writers as diverse as Virgil Wordsworth and Dickens The Raiders and Writers of Cervantes Archive is sure to provoke and intrigue Latin American scholars narrative theorists archivists and those interested in issues related to cultural domination ideology and cyberspace

Bristol, 2011-11-03 Shakespeare and Moral Agency presents a collection of new essays by literary scholars and philosophers considering character and action in Shakespeare's plays as heuristic models for the exploration of some salient problems in the field of moral inquiry Together they offer a unified presentation of an emerging orientation in Shakespeare studies drawing on recent work in ethics philosophy of mind and analytic aesthetics to construct a powerful framework for the critical analysis of Shakespeare's works Contributors suggest new possibilities for the interpretation of Shakespearean drama by engaging with the rich body of contemporary work in the field of moral philosophy offering significant insights for literary criticism for pedagogy and also for theatrical performance On Ceasing to Be Human Gerald Bruns, 2011 On Ceasing to be Human explores and develops a question posed by Stanley Cavell Can a human being be free of human nature particularly in terms of the link between freedom and nonidentity Postcolonial Theory and Autobiography David Huddart, 2008-04-18 Cultural theory has often been criticized for covert Eurocentric and universalist tendencies Its concepts and ideas are implicitly applicable to everyone ironing over any individuality or cultural difference Postcolonial theory has challenged these limitations of cultural theory and Postcolonial Theory and Autobiography addresses the central challenge posed by its autobiographical turn Despite the fact that autobiography is frequently dismissed for its Western masculine bias David Huddart argues for its continued relevance as a central explanatory category in understanding postcolonial theory and its relation to subjectivity Focusing on the influence of post structuralist theory on postcolonial theory and vice versa this study suggests that autobiography constitutes a general philosophical resistance to universal concepts and theories Offering a fresh perspective on familiar critical figures like Edward W Said and Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak by putting them in the context of readings of the work of Jacques Derrida Gilles Deleuze and Alain Badiou this book relates the theory of autobiography to expressions of new universalisms that together with postcolonial theory rethink and extend norms of experience investigation and knowledge A Future for Archaeology Robert Layton, Stephen Shennan, Peter Stone, 2016-09-16 Over the last thirty years issues of culture identity and meaning have moved out of the academic sphere to become central to politics and society at all levels from the local to the global Archaeology has been at the forefront of these moves towards a greater engagement with the non academic world often in an extremely practical and direct way for example in the disputes about the repatriation of human burials Such disputes have been central to the recognition that previously marginalized groups have rights in their own past that are important for their future The essays in this book look back at some of the most important events where a role for an archaeology concerned with the past in the present first emerged and look forward to the practical and theoretical issues now central to a socially engaged discipline and shaping its
