Bilzen, 2015-01-12 Aid to developing countries started well before World War II but was undertaken as an ad hoc activity or was delivered by private organizations. This changed after the War. In his Inaugural Address in 1949 the American President Harry Truman announced a bold new programme for making the benefits of our scientific advances and industrial progress available for the improvement and growth of underdeveloped nations: the so-called Point IV Plan. At that time it was thought that this support would be needed only for a limited number of years comparable to the Marshall Plan assistance to Europe. But reality proved to be different: providing aid was a very long-term affair. Since the Fifties the aid provided has changed at different occasions. In the beginning aid concentrated on constructing infrastructure such as roads, railways, dams and harbours in order to promote industrial development. In the Sixties aid to agriculture was added and in the Seventies aid to social sectors. Basic Needs was also provided. The Eighties brought worldwide debt problems. Major donors applied structural adjustment policies; some called this the lost decade or cada perdida. The Nineties saw the arrival of the first environmental considerations and asked for attention for the role of women and good governance. The form of aid changed from projects to programmes and budget support. Describing the different aid forms of the last 65 years and analysing why aid changed from time to time are the subjects of this book. Professionals and students in the area of international cooperation will benefit from studying this history as at this moment old concepts are reappearing or applied by new donors like China. Is the pendulum really swinging back as Louis Emmerij at one point suggested?

Development Delusions and Contradictions David Sims, 2022-12-12 This book analyses the shortcomings of the Western development aid programme. Through exploring the evolution of aid over more than seven decades development is examined as an industry with a variety of motives and actors. The driving forces and dynamics in the relationship between aid and economic development are highlighted in relation to faulty development structures and misaligned aims. With a particular focus on Egypt radical questions are posed on how global aid and development can be improved including how it can respond to the COVID 19 pandemic. This book aims to present an alternative aid framework to help overcome the dysfunctionality of the current international development system. It will be of interest to researchers and policymakers working within development economics and development policy.

The Transnationally Partnered University P. Koehn, M. Obamba, 2014-12-04 Analyzing the growing importance of the transnational higher education landscape and the role of African universities Koehn and Obamba show how transnational partnerships among universities can inform policy, strengthen synergies between knowledge producers and knowledge users and advance sustainable development practice.

Less Pretension, More Ambition Peter van Lieshout, Robert Went, Monique Kremer, 2010 Ontwikkelingshulp heeft onder de Nederlandse bevolking nog altijd een groot draagvlak: zo blijkt uit opinieonderzoek. Maar de twijfels nemen toe. Ook in de media worden steeds meer vraagtekens geplaatst bij de effecten van hulp. Met name de situatie in Afrika stelt velen teleur. Waarom geven we eigenlijk ontwikkelingshulp en helpt die hulp? Wat weten we over ontwikkelingstrajecten van landen en over de mogelijkheid daar van buiten aan bij te dragen? Hoe relevant is hulp nog voor ontwikkelingslanden nu andere financiële stromen zoals remittances en buitenlandse investeringen FDI door globalisering zijn toegenomen En heeft beleid gericht op thema's als klimaat migratie financiële stabiliteit kennis handel en veiligheid niet meer invloed op de ontwikkelingskansen van arme landen Deze en andere vragen komen aan bod in dit rapport van de Wetenschappelijke Raad voor het Regeringsbeleid Op basis van bijna vijfhonderd gesprekken in het veld en een uitgebreide bestudering van de literatuur formuleert de WRR aanbevelingen voor forse wijzigingen in de organisatie van ontwikkelingshulp en voor gestructureerde aandacht voor terreinen die ontwikkelingsrelevant zijn en voor mondiale publieke goederen Researching South-South Development Cooperation Emma Mawdsley, Elsje Fourie, Wiebe

Nauta, 2019-05-24 Over the last two decades the expanding role of Southern countries as development partners has led to tectonic shifts in global development ideas practices norms and actors Researchers are faced with new questions around identity power and positionality in global development Researching South South Development Cooperation examines this rapidly growing and complex phenomenon asking to what extent existing assumptions conceptual frameworks and definitions of development need to be reframed in the context of researching this new landscape This interdisciplinary book draws on voices from across the Global South and North to explore the epistemological and related methodological challenges and opportunities associated with researching South South development cooperation asking what these trends mean for the politics of knowledge production Chapters are interspersed with shorter vignettes which aim to share examples from first hand participation in and observation of South South development cooperation initiatives This book will be of interest to anyone conducting research on development in the Global South whether they are a practitioner or policy maker or a student or researcher in politics international development area studies or international relations Non-Governmental Transitional Justice, International Assistance, and Civil Society Paige Arthur, Christalla Yakinthou, 2018-03-29 In recent years, transitional justice has become increasingly international in its scope. Due to ongoing animosities, lack of political will and the absence of credible governing or judicial institutions, international organizations, donors and NGOs advocate for transitional justice initiatives like truth commissions or special tribunals alongside national actors like civil society and victims groups. This book examines how international assistance affects transitional justice and where power truly lies in making decisions about justice for victims of massive human rights abuse. The book finds that government donors typically lack strategies for transitional justice; they struggle with information deficits and they are constrained by short term approaches that do not give enough attention to what is often a weak and divided civil society sector. All the authors have both practical and scholarly perspectives on transitional justice. Country case studies are provided including descriptions of the challenges in developing data on transitional justice financing.

industry In particular it argues that while the world of international development has expanded since the 1990s it has become more rigidly technocratic The authors insist on a focus upon the core anthropological issues surrounding poverty and inequality and thus sharply criticise what are perceived as problems in the field Anthropology and Development is a completely rewritten edition of the best selling and critically acclaimed Anthropology Development and the Post Modern Challenge 1996 It serves as both an innovative reformulation of the field as well as a textbook for many undergraduate and graduate courses at leading international universities
