Last Breath Peter Stark, 2002-02-05 Sudden extreme deaths have always fascinated us and now more than ever as athletes and travelers rise to the challenges of high risk sports and journeys on the edge In this spellbinding book veteran travel and outdoor sports writer Peter Stark reenacts the dramas of what happens inside our bodies our minds and our souls when we push ourselves to the absolute limits of human endurance Combining the adrenaline high of extreme sports with the startling facts of physiological reality Stark narrates a series of outdoor adventure stories in which thrill can cross the line to mortal peril Each death or brush with death is at once a suspense story a cautionary tale and a medical thriller Stark describes in unforgettable detail exactly what goes through the mind of a cross country skier as his body temperature plummets apathy at ninety one degrees stupor at ninety He puts us inside the body of a doomed kayaker tumbling helplessly underwater for two minutes five minutes ten minutes He conjures up the physiology of a snowboarder frantically trying not to panic as he consumes the tiny pocket of air trapped around his face under thousands of pounds of snow These are among the dire situations that Stark transforms into harrowing accounts of how our bodies react to trauma how reflexes and instinct compel us to fight back and how why and when we let go of our will to live In an increasingly tamed and homogenized world risk is not only a means of escape but a path to spirituality As Peter Stark writes You must try to understand death intimately and prepare yourself for death in order to live a full and satisfying life In this fascinating informative book Stark reveals exactly what we re getting ourselves into when we choose to live and die at the extremes of endurance

Extreme Landscapes of Leisure Patrick

Laviolette, 2016-04-15 In recent years there has been an increased engagement throughout the social sciences with the study of extreme places and practices Dangerous games and adventure tours have shifted from being marginal exotic or mad to being more than merely acceptable They are now exemplary mainstream even there are a variety of new types increasing numbers of people are doing them and they are being appropriated and have infiltrated more and more contexts This book argues that hazardous sports and adventure tourism have become rather paradoxical As a set of activities where players and holidaymakers are closer to death or danger than they would otherwise be they are the complete opposite of normal games or vacations Adventure sports and tours reverse the general definition of a holiday as being an escape from the seriousness of everyday life as in most cases they are innately serious requiring as they do life or death decision making Beginning with the rise in colonial explorations and moving on to consider the Dangerous Sports Club of Oxford this book examines the increasing phenomena of adventure sports such as bungy jumping cliff jumping or tomb stoning surfing and parkour within a framework of positive risk It explores how certain assumptions about knowledge agency the body and nature are beginning to coalesce around newly developing spheres of social relations Additionally extreme games have become activities that are germane to the dawning of green social thought and so the book also addresses issues that deal with the intimate connections that exist between pleasure and the moral responsibility towards the environment

Drowning by Accident Elizabeth Meinhard, 2022-02-15 Drowning By Accident explains why it is so easy to drown where accidents happen and how to save lives by early rescue and resuscitation More than 600 people die by drowning in Britain every year Swimming is promoted as a particularly safe form of exercise so that swimmers forget or ignore the dangers of frigid lakes swollen rivers incoming tides or outgoing rip currents Drowning accidents take place because we don t recognise water as a hostile environment We overestimate the strength and endurance of our bodies and underestimate the power and deceptiveness of water Year after year victims lose their lives in typical drowning accidents often sinking so quickly and silently that nearby family friends and onlookers fail to notice the tragedy taking place close beside them Babies drown in baths Toddlers drown in garden ponds School children fall off rafts Teenagers strike too far from the shore Pensioners wade into rivers to save their dogs Victims often die within minutes of sinking beneath the surface A quarter of those who reach hospital alive will also die while others survive with severe permanent brain damage This means that it is vitally important for parents grandparents teachers lifeguards and lawmakers to recognise the risks and prevent drowning accidents before they take place
