Reckoning Day Jacqueline Foertsch, 2013-08-30 Too often lost in our understanding of the American Cold War crisis with its nuclear brinkmanship and global political chess game is the simultaneous crisis on the nation's racial front. Reckoning Day is the first book to examine the relationship of African Americans to the atom bomb in postwar America. It tells the wide-ranging story of African Americans' response to the atomic threat in the postwar period. It examines the anti-nuclear writing and activism of major figures such as W. E. B. Du Bois, Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and Lorraine Hansberry as well as the placement or absence of black characters in white-authored doomsday fiction and nonfiction. Author Jacqueline Foertsch analyzes the work of African American thinkers, activists, writers, journalists, filmmakers, and musical performers in the atomic decades of 1945 to 1965 and beyond. Her book tells the dynamic story of commitment and interdependence as these major figures spoke with force and eloquence for nuclear disarmament just as they argued unassailably for racial equality on numerous other occasions. Foertsch also examines the placement of African American characters in white-authored doomsday novels, science fiction, and survivalist nonfiction such as government-sponsored forecasts regarding post-nuclear survival. In these black characters are often displaced or absented entirely in doomsday narratives, they are excluded from executive decision making and the stories often triumphant conclusions. In the nonfiction, they are rarely envisioned amongst the typical American survivors charged with rebuilding US society. Throughout Reckoning Day, issues of placement and positioning provide the conceptual framework. Abandoned at ground zero, America's inner cities during the height of the atomic threat, African Americans were figured in white-authored survival fiction as compliant servants aiding white victory over atomic adversity while as historical figures they were often perceived as elsewhere indifferent to the atomic threat. In fact, African Americans' position on the bomb was rarely one of silence or indifference. Ranging from appreciation to disdain to vigorous opposition, atomic-era African Americans developed diverse and meaningful positions on the bomb and made essential contributions to a remarkably American dialogue.

Feeling Strangely in Mid-Century Spanish and Latin American Women's Fiction Tess C. Rankin,2023-12-15 An Open Access edition of this book is available on the Liverpool University Press website and the OAPEN library as part of the Opening the Future project with COPIM The early twentieth century was awash in revolutionary scientific discourse and its uptake in the public imaginary through popular scientific writings touched every area of human experience from politics and governance to social mores and culture Feeling Strangely argues that these shifting scientific understandings and their integration into Hispanic and Lusophone society reshaped the experience of gender The book analyzes gender as a felt experience and explores how that experience is shaped by popular scientific discourse by examining the strange femininity of young protagonists in four novels written by women in Spanish and Portuguese Rosa Chacel s Memorias de Leticia Valle published in Argentina in 1945 Norah Lange s Personas en la sala Argentina 1950 Carmen Laforet s Nada Spain 1945 and Clarice Lispector s Perto do cora o selvagem Brazil 1943 It pairs each novel with a broad scientific theme selected from those that captured the contemporary popular imagination to argue that the young female protagonists in these novels all put forth visions of young womanhood as an experience of strangeness Building on Carmen Mart n Gait e s term chicas raras Rankin proposes this strangeness as constitutive of a gendered experience inextricable from affective and material engagements with the world Survey Graphic ,1943
