

Hot Spots and Plate Motions

As a lithospheric plate migrates across a stationary hot spot, a volcano develops directly above the hot spot. When the plate slides past the hot spot the overlying volcano becomes dormant, and over time, it migrates many kilometers from the hot spot. Meanwhile, a new volcano arises as a new part of the plate passes over the hot spot. The result is a string of volcanoes, with one end of the line located over the hot spot and quite active, and the other end distant and inactive. In between is a succession of volcanoes that are progressively older with distance from the hot spot.

The figure above shows the distribution of the Hawaiian Islands chain and Emperor Seamount chain. The numbers indicate age in millions of years old or ago (Ma), obtained from the basaltic igneous rock of which each island is composed.
