[illegible]

1. Abstract – A brief summary of the paper, usually no more than 100 words. It should state the purpose of the study, the methods used, the results obtained, and the conclusions drawn.

2. Introduction – The opening section of the paper, usually 100-200 words. It should provide background information on the topic, state the purpose of the study, and outline the structure of the paper.

3. Methods – The section describing the procedures used in the study. It should be detailed enough to allow other researchers to replicate the study.

4. Results – The section presenting the findings of the study. It should include tables, figures, and text describing the data.

5. Discussion – The section interpreting the results and discussing their implications. It should compare the findings with previous research and suggest future directions.

6. Conclusion – The final section of the paper, summarizing the main findings and conclusions.

7. References – A list of the sources cited in the paper, following a specific format (e.g., APA, MLA).

8. Appendices – Additional material that supports the main text but is too large to include in the main body of the paper.
