Match Fixing Economic Partnership Agreement:

Match Fixing: the Economic Partnership Agreement Between EU and EAC Kasper Bjerring Petersen, Ask Gudmundsen, 2015-12-03 On October 16 2014 after more than seven years the European Union and the East Africa Community concluded negotiations on a new comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement EPA However the deadline was October 1 and as a consequence EU removed the Community's trade privileges of duty and quota free access to the EU markets This paper argues based on Neo Gramscian theory that the EPA is a result of neoliberal hegemony in which EU is a prime actor promoting a neoliberal agenda By both consent and cohesion EU was able to pressure the EAC into signing the EPA which enforced market liberalisations and a strengthening of market based authority over state authority locally We also show through global value chain theory how the local associations of exporters pushed for a speedy conclusion of the EPA Not because they favoured its provisions but out of fear for losing the duty free privileges that EU historically had granted the EAC countries

Online Gambling and Crime James Banks, 2016-05-13 Offering the first empirically driven assessment of the development, marketisation, regulation and use of online gambling organisations and their products, this book explores the relationship between online gambling and crime. It draws upon quantitative and qualitative data including textual and visual analyses of e-gambling advertising and the records of player protection and standards organisations together with a virtual ethnography of online gambling subcultures to examine the ways in which gambling and crime have been approached in practice by gamers, regulatory agencies and online gambling organisations. Building upon contemporary criminological theory, it develops an understanding of online gambling as an arena in which risks and rewards are carefully constructed and through which players navigate, employing their own agency to engage with the very real possibility of victimisation. With attention to the manner in which online gambling can be a source of criminal activity not only on the part of players but also criminal entrepreneurs and legitimate gambling businesses, Online Gambling and Crime discusses developments in criminal law and regulatory frameworks, evaluating past and present policy on online gambling.
