Abbott,2012-03-05 Flood Risk and Social Justice is a response to the rising significance of floods and flood related disasters worldwide as an initiative to promote a socially just approach to the problems of flood risk It integrates the human social and the technological components to provide a holistic view This book treats flooding as a multi dimensional human and natural world tragedy that must be accommodated using all the social and technological means that can be mobilised before during and after the flooding event It covers socially just flood risk mitigation practices which necessitate a wide range of multidisciplinary approaches starting from social and wider environmental needs including feedback cycles between human needs and technological means Flood Risk and Social Justice looks at how to judge whether a risk is acceptable or not by addressing an understanding of social and phenomenological considerations rather than simple calculations of probabilities multiplied by unwanted outcomes and their balancing between costs and benefits It is argued that the present flood management practice should be largely replaced by the social justice approach where particular attention is given to deciding what is the right thing to do within a much wider context Thus it insists upon the validity of modes of human understanding which cannot be addressed within the limited context of modern science Flood Risk and Social Justice is written to support a wide range of audiences and seeks to improve the dialogue between researchers and practitioners from different disciplines including post graduate engineering environmental and social science students industry practitioners academics planners environmental advocacy groups and environmental law professionals who have a strong interest in a new kind of social justice work that can act as a continuous counter balance to the various mechanisms that unceasingly give rise to profound injustices More information about this book can be found in this article written for the WaterWiki by the author <http://www.iwaterwiki.org/xwiki/bin/view/Articles/FloodRiskandSocialJustice> Authors Zoran Vojinovic is Associate Professor at the UNESCO IHE Institute for Water Education Delft the Netherlands with almost 20 years of consulting and research experience in various aspects of water industry in New Zealand Australia Asia Europe Central South America and the Caribbean Michael B Abbott is Emeritus Professor at the UNESCO IHE Institute for Water Education Delft the Netherlands and a Director of the European Institute for Industrial Leadership in Brussels He founded and developed the disciplines of Computational Hydraulics and Hydroinformatics and co founded the Journal of Hydroinformatics with Professor Roger Falconer

Ferguson,2017-06-15 Now with SAGE Publishing Mapping the Social Landscape Readings in Sociology is one of the most established and widely used anthologies for Introductory Sociology Susan J Ferguson selects edits and introduces 58 readings representing a plurality of voices and views within sociology The selections include classic statements from great thinkers like C Wright Mills Karl Marx Howard Becker and Max Weber as well as the works of contemporary scholars who address current social issues Many of the readings integrate questions of diversity helping students see the interrelationships among race ethnicity social class and gender and understand how these relationships have shaped the experiences of all people in society New selections focus on o how Superstorm Sandy damaged social as well as physical structures o gender panics and bathrooms o extreme poverty in the United States o transgender challenges to our understanding of gender o a Muslim American punk rock subculture that is challenging Islamophobia o lessons from the Affordable Care Act o revolutionary movements for social change      Material Cultures, Migrations, and Identities Anna Pechurina,2016-04-29 Focusing on the experiences of Russian migrants to the United Kingdom this book explores the connection between migrations homes and identities It evaluates several approaches to studying them and is structured around a series of case studies on attitudes to homemaking food and cooking and clothing      The Field Guide to Mixing Social and Biophysical Methods in Environmental Research Rebecca Lave,Stuart Lane,2025-02-25 Despite ongoing debates about its origins the Anthropocene a new epoch characterized by significant human impact on the Earth s geology and ecosystems is widely acknowledged Our environment is increasingly a product of interacting biophysical and social forces shaped by climate change colonial legacies gender norms hydrological processes and more Understanding these intricate interactions requires a mixed methods approach that combines qualitative and quantitative biophysical and social research However mixed methods environmental research remains rare hindered by academic boundaries limited training and the challenges of interdisciplinary collaboration Time funding and the integration of diverse data further complicate this research whilst the dynamics and ethics of interdisciplinary teams add another layer of complexity Despite these challenges mixed methods research offers a more robust and ultimately transformative understanding of environmental questions This Field Guide aims to inspire and equip researchers to undertake such studies Organized like a recipe book it assists researchers in the preparation of their field work as well as offering entry points to key methods and providing examples of successful mixed methods projects This book will be of interest to scholars wishing to tackle environmental research in a more holistic manner spanning sister disciplines such as anthropology statistics political science public health archaeology geography history ecology and Earth science
