Marble Art Historical And Scientific Perspectives On Ancient Sculpture:

Marble J. Paul Getty Museum, 1991-03-21 In sixteen essays prominent art historians sculptors scientists and conservators discuss ancient marble sculpture The essays are based on a symposium held at the J Paul Getty Museum in April 1988 Topics include the provenancing of marble the detection of marble forgeries scientific analysis and authentication of ancient marble marble quarrying and trade in the ancient world and the techniques used in ancient sculpture Marble J. Paul Getty Museum, J. Paul Getty Museum. Department of Antiquities, J. Paul Getty Museum. Department of Antiquities Conservation, 1990 Marble, 1990 ASMOSIA 4 Association for the Study of Marble and Other Stones used in Antiquity. International Symposium, 1999 Apolline Project: Studies on Vesuvius' north slope and the Bay of Naples Girolamo De Simone, Roger T. Macfarlane, 2009 Classical Bronzes Carol C. Mattusch, 1996 Carol C Mattusch discusses the dating of bronzes based on criteria of technique and style and considers technical innovations in the art of portraiture Most controversially she offers evidence that Greek artists cast bronzes in series based on a single model The Economics of the Roman Stone Trade Ben Russell, 2013 Russell provides an examination of the production distribution and use of carved stone objects in the Roman world Focusing on the market for stone and its supply he offers an assessment of the practicalities of stone transport and how the relationship between producer and customer functioned even over considerable distances Facing the Colours of Roman Portraiture Amalie Skovmøller, 2020-09-07 The fact that most ancient marble portraits were once intentionally polychrome has always been lurking at the corners of art historical and archaeological research Despite the fact that the colours of the sculpted forms completed enhanced and even extended the plastic shapes the topic has not been devoted much dedicated attention This book represents the first full length academic monograph which explores the original polychromy of Roman white marble portraiture It presents results from scientific analysis of portraits in statuary and bust formats dating to the first three centuries CE The book also explores the cultural and social significance of colours in their original contexts and how the immaterial affects of the polychrome three dimensional images can be integrated into the traditional research into ancient portraiture which has tended to place overwhelming emphasis on iconography typology and biography By doing so the ancient sculpted marble form as we know it will be exposed and confronted and the impact of manipulated material effects that were meant to evoke a broad range of multisensory experiences will be emphasized The book puts forth a new way of analysis to be tested and developed in the future The Death of Myth on Roman Sarcophagi Mont Allen, 2022-12-29 This book explores the disappearance of Greek mythic imagery from the Roman sarcophagi in the 3rd Century Fashioning the Future in Roman Greece Estelle Strazdins, 2023-01-10 Fashioning the Future in Roman Greece Memory Monuments Texts uses literature inscriptions art and architecture to explore the relationship of elite Greeks of the Roman imperial period to time This wide ranging work challenges conventional thinking about the temporal positioning of imperial Greece and the so called Second Sophistic which holds that it was obsessed above all with the Classical past. Instead the volume establishes that imperial Greek temporality was far more complex than scholarship has previously allowed by detailing how contemporary cultural output used the past to position itself within tradition but was crafted to speak to the future. At the same time the book emphasizes the value of interdisciplinary analysis in any explication of elite culture in Roman Greece since abundant extant evidence reveals its purveyors were often responsible for the production of both literature and material culture. Strazdins shows how these two modes of cultural production in the hands of elites such as Herodes Atticus, Arrian, Aelius Aristides, Lucian, Dio Chrysostom, Polemon, Pausanias and Philostratus exhibit a shared rhetoric oriented towards posterity and informed by a heightened awareness of the fragility of cultural and personal memory over large spans of time. The book thus provides a sophisticated analysis of the tensions, anxieties and opportunities that attend the fashioning of commemorative strategies against the background of the Second Sophistic and the Roman empire and details the consequences of embroilment with futurity on our understanding of the cultural and political concerns of elite imperial Greeks.

Monumenta Graeca et Romana: Mutilation and transformation : damnatio memoriae and Roman imperial portraiture, 2004-01-01 The condemnation of memory inexorably altered the visual landscape of imperial Rome. This volume catalogues and interprets the sculptural, glyptic, numismatic and epigraphic evidence for damnatio memoriae and ultimately reveals its praxis to be at the core of Roman cultural identity.

East and West: Modes of Communication Evangelos Chrysos, Ian Wood, 2023-07-24 The End of Antiquity saw an increase in the divide between East and West. This crucial development in the history of the Late and Post Roman World was addressed in a series of linked papers delivered at the first plenary conference of the European Science Foundation's scientific programme on the Transformation of the Roman World held in 1995. A group of leading scholars Beat Brenk, Peter Brown, Averil Cameron, Christian Hannick, N. Oikonomides, Lennard Ryden addressed questions of social, cultural, artistic and linguistic change concentrating largely on developments within the East while changes in the West were explored in a series of responses from Michel Banniard, Mayke de Jong, Alain Dierkens, Niels Hannestad, Walter Pohl, Ian Wood. In addition the history of Late Roman and Visigothic Merida the setting for the conference was set out by Javier Arce. Together these papers constitute a major exploration of the social and cultural changes in East and West in the period of the Transformation of the Roman World. To this collection are added two papers by Paolo Delogu and Thomas F. X. Noble delivered in the course of the third and final plenary congress of the programme held in Isernia in 1997 assessing the achievement of the whole project at the end of five years of conferences and workshops.

Greek Art and Aesthetics in the Fourth Century B.C. William A. P. Childs, 2018-04-10 Greek Art and Aesthetics in the Fourth Century B.C. analyzes the broad character of art produced during this period providing in depth analysis of and commentary on many of its most notable examples of sculpture and painting. Taking into consideration developments in style and subject matter and elucidating political, religious and intellectual context, William A. P. Childs argues that Greek art in this era was a natural outgrowth of the high classical period and focused on developing the rudiments of individual expression that became the hallmark of the classical in the fifth century As Childs shows in many respects the art of this period corresponds with the philosophical inquiry by Plato and his contemporaries into the nature of art and speaks to the contemporaneous sense of insecurity and renewed religious devotion Delving into formal and iconographic developments in sculpture and painting Childs examines how the sensitive expressive quality of these works seamlessly links the classical and Hellenistic periods with no appreciable rupture in the continuous exploration of the human condition Another overarching theme concerns the nature of style as a concept of expression an issue that becomes more important given the increasingly multiple styles and functions of fourth century Greek art Childs also shows how the color and form of works suggested the unseen and revealed the profound character of individuals and the physical world

The Archaeology of Roman Macedonia Vassilis Evangelidis, 2022-06-20 Macedonia is a region that provides its own intriguing questions due to its position on the fringe of the classical Greek world It is also an area which is of special interest to students of history and archaeology of Roman period Greece since it was the first to be incorporated in the Roman state Macedonia shared a similar path of development with Achaia during the imperial period As provinces far from productive zones and frontiers both played a minor role in the imperial administrative structure Beneath this similarity however lie many differences in Macedonia's proximity to the Balkans its early contact with Rome its relatively low level of urbanization its multicultural context and its sizeable economy which played their own role in the formation of the urban and rural environments With a focus on elements of the built environment and human habitat this book examines old and new archaeological evidence to present a concise overview of the archaeology of the area and develop a better perception of the region in terms of archaeology of the built environment architecture and architectural influences urbanization and use of land and resources from the 2nd century BCE to the early 4th century CE Driven by a set of key questions that are addressed through the archaeological evidence the book explores key issues in understanding the archaeology of the area like the role of architectural tradition and innovation the interdependency between practical bases of architecture and socio cultural aspects the exploitation of local resources and the role of external influences Special importance is given to the interaction of Greek Roman and local cultures and the ways that the formation of the built environment eventually led to the assimilation of ideas from East and West in terms of workmanship use of materials design and function
