The Armed Forces Covenant in action? Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Defence

Committee,2013-07-18 A series of Ofsted inspections on Army Apprenticeships conducted in 2013 rated the overall effectiveness as good This was an improvement over the last inspection in 2009 rated as satisfactory now called requires improvement Some 28 per cent of Army recruits were less than 18 years of age Further information is needed on why the Army is so dependent on recruiting personnel under the age of 18 years compared to the other two Services and whether steps are being taken to reduce this dependency Of those recruited in 2012 3 5 per cent of the Army were rated at entry level 2 for literacy that of a 7 to 8 year old and 39 per cent had a literacy level of an eleven year old If as the MoD states it has to recruit personnel at whatever level of attainment is available then it should boost remedial action when recruitment entry standards are particularly low In light of changes brought about by Future Force 2020 it may be that recruiting personnel with higher levels of attainment would better meet the future needs of the Armed Forces Whilst the Committee recognises that some recruits may not be eager to take further academic exams the MoD should encourage more recruits to undertake English and Maths GCSEs which would stand them in good stead for future employment The MoD has carried out some useful pilot projects with paramedic training and should identify more potential projects to ensure that vital skills paid for by the MoD are not lost to the country Learning and Teaching Chinese as a First Language Sin Manw Sophia Lam,John

Chi-Kin Lee,Chung Mou Si,2024-06-28 In this book the authors embark on a critical investigation of the complex field of Chinese language education with a particular focus on exploring new trends and teaching and learning They delve into the intricacies of language education and its effectiveness in teaching Chinese as a first language The book has three objectives establishing a field of study in Chinese language learning and teaching providing critical discussion and progressive insights on language education and offering relevant pedagogical perspectives of learning and teaching Chinese as L1 and L2 The chapters investigate learning and teaching of Chinese in different aspects including four skills culture literature technology assisted learning and learners identity By focusing on the teaching practices of Chinese at different levels it sheds light on teaching Chinese as a first language Theoretically it broadens the linguistic and geographical reach of previous works on language education that mainly examine English as a lingua franca or children s first language acquisition Drawing upon theories in language learning the book demonstrates the applicability of language theories in the first language and Chinese as a non alphabetic language and examines the impact and effectiveness of some theories in Chinese learning and teaching Academic researchers teacher educators teachers and students interested in Chinese language and education will find this a highly relevant text for its focus on curriculum pedagogy and assessment of teaching Chinese as a first language
