The Life of the City Julian Brigstocke, 2016-03-03 Could the vitality of embodied experience create a foundation for a new form of revolutionary authority The Life of the City is a bold and innovative reassessment of the early urban avant garde movements that sought to re imagine and reinvent the experiential life of the city Constructing a ground breaking theoretical analysis of the relationships between biological life urban culture and modern forms of biopolitical experiential authority Julian Brigstocke traces the failed attempts of Parisian radicals to turn the crisis of authority in late nineteenth century Paris into an opportunity to invent new forms of urban commons The most comprehensive account to date of the spatial politics of the literary artistic and anarchist groups that settled in the Montmartre area of Paris after the suppression of the 1871 Paris Commune The Life of the City analyses the reasons why laughter emerged as the unlikely tool through which Parisian bohemians attempted to forge a new non representational biopolitics of sensation Ranging from the carnivalesque performances of artistic cabarets such as the Chat Noir to the laughing violence of anarchist terrorism The Life of the City is a timely analysis of the birth of a carnivalesque politics that remains highly influential in contemporary urban movements

The SAGE Handbook of Historical Geography Mona Domosh, Michael Heffernan, Charles W. J. Withers, 2020-11-25

Historical geography is an active theoretically informed and vibrant field of scholarly work within modern geography with strong and constantly evolving connections with disciplines across the humanities and social sciences Across two volumes The SAGE Handbook of Historical Geography provides you with an international and cross disciplinary overview of the field presenting chapters that examine the history present condition and future potential of the discipline in relation to recent developments and research

Space, Knowledge and Power Stuart Elden, 2016-04-01 Michel Foucault's work is rich with implications and insights concerning spatiality and has inspired many geographers and social scientists to develop these ideas in their own research This book the first to engage Foucault's geographies in detail from a wide range of perspectives is framed around his discussions with the French geography journal Hérodote in the mid 1970s The opening third of the book comprises some of Foucault's previously untranslated work on questions of space a range of responses from French and English language commentators and a newly translated essay by Claude Raffestin a leading Swiss geographer The rest of the book presents specially commissioned essays which examine the remarkable reception of Foucault's work in English and French language geography situate Foucault's project historically and provide a series of developments of his work in the contemporary contexts of power biopolitics governmentality and war Contributors include a number of key figures in social spatial theory such as David Harvey Chris Philo Sara Mills Nigel Thrift John Agnew Thomas Flynn and Matthew Hannah Written in an open and engaging tone the contributors discuss just what they find valuable and frustrating about Foucault's geographies This is a book which will both surprise and challenge

Empire and Education under the Ottomans Emine O. Evered, 2012-05-27 Once hailed as the eternal state the Ottoman Empire was in decline by the end of the nineteenth century finally collapsing under the pressures of World War I Yet its legacies are still apparent and few have had more impact than those of its schools and educational policies Empire and Education under the Ottomans analyses the Empire's educational politics from the mid nineteenth century amidst the Tanzimat reform period until The Young Turk Revolution in 1908 Through a focus on the regional impact of decrees from Istanbul Emine O Evered unravels the complexities of the era demonstrating how educational changes devised to strengthen the Empire actually hastened its demise This book is the first

history of education in the Ottoman Middle East to evaluate policies in the context of local responses and resistance and includes the first published English translation of the watershed 1869 Ottoman Education Law A stimulating and impressively researched study it represents an important new addition to the historiography of the Ottoman Empire and will be essential for those researching its lasting legacy States of Subsistence José Ciro Martínez,2022-04-12 On any given day in Jordan more than nine million residents eat approximately ten million loaves of khubz arabi the slightly leavened flatbread known to many as pita Some rely on this bread to avoid starvation for others it is a customary pleasure Yet despite its ubiquity in accounts of Middle East politics and society rarely do we consider how bread is prepared consumed discussed and circulated and what this all represents With this book Jos Ciro Mart nez examines khubz arabi to unpack the effects of the welfare program that ensures its widespread availability Drawing on more than a year working as a baker in Amman Mart nez probes the practices that underpin subsidized bread Following bakers and bureaucrats he offers an immersive examination of social welfare provision Mart nez argues that the state is best understood as the product of routine practices and actions through which it becomes a stable truth in the lives of citizens States of Subsistence not only describes logics of rule in contemporary Jordan and the place of bread within them but also unpacks how the state endures through forms sensations and practices amid the seemingly unglamorous and unspectacular day to day Dreams of the Future in Nineteenth-Century Ireland Richard J. Butler,2021-09-01 This interdisciplinary collection focuses on the history of the future and in particular how Irish people in the nineteenth century thought about their future in many different ways and contexts It spans the long nineteenth century from c 1800 to c 1914 and includes both people living on the island of Ireland and the Irish abroad women and men the religious and the secular the governing and the governed It explores both individually and collectively the various hopes dreams fears and visions of the future that permeated through nineteenth century Ireland and Irish life The collection also analyses how the Irish future was conceptualized and understood in different cultural contexts how visions of the future shifted in relation to the present and the past and how the future was instrumentalized for political religious or other social agendas It attempts to go beyond the usual political or religious discourses on what the future might hold for Irish people and consider a broader spectrum of witnesses from a mixture of historical and literary sources CONTRIBUTORS Patrick Bethel Richard J Butler Pauline Collombier Lakeman Sophie Cooper Catherine Healy Peter Hession Rapha l Ingelbien Jim Kelly Fiona Lyons Aoife O Leary McNeice Patrick Maume Christopher P Morash Loughlin J Sweeney The Global Politics of Science and Technology - Vol. 2 Maximilian Mayer,Mariana Carpes,Ruth Knoblich,2014-08-20 An increasing number of scholars have begun to see science and technology as relevant issues in International Relations IR acknowledging the impact of material elements technical instruments and scientific practices on international security statehood and global governance This two volume collection brings the debate about science and technology to the center of International Relations It shows how integrating science and technology translates into novel analytical frameworks conceptual approaches and empirical puzzles and thereby offers a state of the art review of various methodological and theoretical ways in which sciences and technologies matter for the study of international affairs and world politics The authors not only offer a set of practical examples of research frameworks for experts and students alike but also propose a conceptual space for interdisciplinary learning in order to improve our understanding of the global politics of science and technology The second volume raises a plethora of issue areas actors and cases under the umbrella notion techno politics Distinguishing between interactional and co productive perspectives it outlines a toolbox of analytical frameworks that transcend technological determinism and social constructivism The Government of Natural Resources Stéphane Castonguay, 2021-04-15 The Government of Natural Resources explores scientific and technical activity in Quebec from Confederation until the eve of the Second World War Scientific and technical personnel are an often quiet presence within the state but they play an integral role At the turn of the twentieth century the provincial government created geology forestry fishery and agronomy services These new services drew from recently established university technical programs to amass a corps of skilled employees to support their mission exploiting resources and occupying territory St phane Castonguay traces the history of mining logging hunting fishing and agriculture in Quebec to reveal how territorial and environmental transformations thus became a tool of government By helping to define and shape such interventions scientific activity contributed to state formation and expanded administrative capacity The lessons that this thoughtful reconceptualization of resource development offers reach well beyond provincial borders The SAGE

Geographies of Drugs and Alcohol Christopher M. Moreno, Robert Wilton, 2014-03-05 The consumption of drugs and alcohol and the pleasures and problems arising from this consumption can be understood as embedded and constitutive elements of social family and recreational life. At the same time they are key sites of intervention for a broad array of state and non-state actors focused on regulation, treatment and recovery. This edited volume showcases current research on the complex social and cultural geographies of drugs and alcohol. Taking an avowedly critical approach the authors draw from a variety of theoretical traditions to explore the socially and spatially embedded nature of alcohol and drug consumption, regulation and treatment and the ways in which these give rise to particular lived experiences while foreclosing on others. Together the chapters question taken-for-granted assumptions about the nature of and motivations for drug and alcohol use and pay direct attention to both the intended and unintended consequences of regulation and treatment initiatives. Despite and in part because of this critical stance chapters hold immediate implications for drug and alcohol policy and public health interventions. This book was originally published as a special issue of Social and Cultural Geography. The Imperative of Health Deborah Lupton, 1995-06-15 In this reappraisal of public health and health promotion in contemporary societies Deborah Lupton explores public health and health promotion using contemporary sociocultural and political theory particularly that building on Foucault's writings on subjectivity, embodiment and power relations. The author examines the implications of the new social theories for the study of health promotion and health communication to analyze the symbolic nature of public health practices and explores their underlying meanings and assumptions. Fluid Geographies K. Maria D. Lane, 2024-07-18 Maria Lane's Fluid Geographies traces New Mexico's transition in the pre-statehood era from community-based water management to an expert-led structure controlled by engineers and bureaucrats. To understand this shift Lane carefully examines the chief conflict of the period which pitted Indigenous and Nuevomexicano communities with their long-established and locally organized systems of irrigation management against Anglo-American settlers with their Progressive-era preference for scientific expertise and centralized bureaucratic management of water. The newcomers succeeded in imposing their will though disputes over water rights wended their way through the district courts of New Mexico's Rio Grande watershed for many years. Lane has gathered the records of more than 125 such cases which she uses as the basis for a spatial analysis of evolving cultural patterns and attitudes toward water use and management in this time and place.

Ultimately Lane shows that modernist water policy both reflected and helped construct a racialized understanding of scientific expertise and in the process legitimized the dispossession of Indigenous and Nuevomexicano communities throughout the Rio Grande watershed

Assembling and Governing Habits Tony Bennett, Ben Dibley, Gay Hawkins, Greg Noble, 2021-07-22 The increasing significance of managing or changing habits is evident across a range of pressing contemporary issues climate change waste management travel practices and crowd control Assembling and Governing Habits engages with the diverse ways in which habits are governed through the knowledge practices and technologies that have been brought to bear on them The volume addresses three main concerns The first focuses on how the habit discourses proposed by a range of disciplines have informed the ways in which different forms of expertise have shaped the ways in which habits have been managed or changed to bring about specific social objectives The second concerns the ways in which habits are acted on as aspects of infrastructures which constitute the interfaces through which technical systems human conducts and environments are acted on simultaneously The third concerns the specific ways in which habit discourses and habit infrastructures are brought together in the regulation of city habits that is habits which have specific qualities arising out of the specific conditions the rhythms and densities of urban life and ones which in the wake of the COVID 19 pandemic have been profoundly disrupted Written in a clear and direct style the book will appeal to students and scholars with an interest in cultural studies sociology cultural geography history of the sciences and posthuman studies

The Rule of Freedom Patrick Joyce, 2020-05-05 The liberal governance of the nineteenth century state and city depended on the rule of freedom As a form of rule it relied on the production of certain kinds of citizens and patterns of social life which in turn depended on transforming both the material form of the city its layout architecture infrastructure and the ways it was inhabited and imagined by its leaders citizens and custodians Focusing mainly on London and Manchester but with reference also to Glasgow Dublin Paris Vienna colonial India and even contemporary Los Angeles Patrick Joyce creatively and originally develops Foucauldian approaches to historiography to reflect on the nature of modern liberal society His consideration of such artifacts as maps and censuses sewers and markets public libraries and parks and of civic governments and city planning are intertwined with theoretical interpretations to examine both the impersonal often invisible forms of social direction and control built into the infrastructure of modern life and the ways in which these mechanisms shape cultural and social life and engender popular resistance
