Chapter 1 - Functions - Characteristics and Properties

Chapter 1.1- Functions

In Summary

Key Ideas

- A function is a relation in which there is a unique output for each input. This means that each value of the independent variable (the domain) must correspond to one, and only one, value of the dependent variable (the range).
- · Functions can be represented graphically, numerically, or algebraically

Graphical Example	Numerical Examples		Algebraic Examples
1 :17	Set of ordered pairs: ((1, 3), (3, 5), (-2, 9), (5, 11)) Table of values:		$y = 2 \sin (3x) + 4$ or $f(x) = 2 \sin (3x) + 4$

	-2 4

	2 4	35-1

Need to Know

- Function notation, f(x), is used to represent the values of the dependent variable in a function, so y = f(x).
- You can use the vertical line test to check whether a graph represents a function. A graph represents a function if every vertical line intersects the graph in, at most, one point. This shows that there is only one element in the range for each element in the domain.
- The domain and range of a function depend on the type of function.
- The domain and range of a function that models a particular situation may need to be restricted, based on the situation. For example, negative values may not have meaning when dealing with variables such as time.
