Labour Relations in the Global Fast-Food Industry Tony Royle, Brian Towers, 2004-08-02 The fast food industry is one of the few industries that can be described as truly global not least in terms of employment which is estimated at around ten million people worldwide This edited volume is the first of its kind providing an analysis of labour relations in this significant industry focusing on multinational corporations and large national companies in ten countries the USA Canada the UK the Netherlands Germany Australia New Zealand Singapore and Russia The extent to which multinational enterprises impose or adapt their employment practices in differing national industrial relations systems is analysed Results reveal that the global fast food industry is typified by trade union exclusion high labour turnover unskilled work paternalistic management regimes and work organization that allows little scope for developing workers participation in decision making let alone advocating widely accepted concepts of social justice and workers rights

The McDonaldization of Society 6 George Ritzer, 2011 As one of the most noteworthy and popular sociology books of all time The McDonaldization of Society 6 demonstrates the power of the sociological imagination to 21st century undergraduates in a way that few other books have This engaging work of social criticism is praised for sparking debate in and out of the classroom and for allowing students to read in depth on a small number of fascinating topics and it vividly demonstrates the relevance of Weber's discussion of rationalization the basis of McDonaldization to the everyday life of today's student. New and Retained Features Links a large number of social phenomena to McDonaldization some which are directly impacted by the principles of the fast food chain and others where the effect is more tenuous. A new final chapter 10 on The DeMcDonaldization of Society examines the processes of deMcDonaldization and concludes that while it is occurring on the surface McDonaldization is alive and well for example in the structures that underlie Web 2.0. Many new and updated examples are from the digital world keeping the text ultimately relevant for the contemporary student reader. Addresses the advantages of McDonaldization then focuses on the problems and dangers it poses and looks at efforts to deal with those challenges. Examines the link between McDonaldization and globalization. Challenges the reader to rethink McDonaldization as part of the structure of society and to act to reverse the trend towards it. Fast Food, Fast Talk Robin Leidner, 1993-08-04 Attending Hamburger University Robin Leidner observes how McDonald s trains the managers of its fast food restaurants to standardize every aspect of service and product Learning how to sell life insurance at a large midwestern firm she is coached on exactly what to say how to stand when to make eye contact and how to build up Positive Mental Attitude by chanting I feel happy I feel terrific Leidner s fascinating report from the frontlines of two major American corporations uncovers the methods and consequences of regulating workers language looks attitudes ideas and demeanor Her study reveals the complex and often unexpected results that come with the routinization of service work Some McDonald s workers resent the constraints of prescribed uniforms and rigid scripts while others appreciate how routines simplify their jobs and give them psychological protection against unpleasant customers Combined Insurance goes further than McDonald s in attempting to standardize the workers very selves instilling in them adroit maneuvers to overcome customer resistance The routinization of service work has both poignant and preposterous consequences It tends to undermine shared understandings about individuality and social obligations sharpening the tension between the belief in personal autonomy and the domination of a powerful corporate culture Richly anecdotal and accessibly written Leidner s book charts new territory in the sociology of work With service sector work becoming increasingly important in American business her timely study is particularly welcome Efficiency in High Schools High School Teachers Association of New York City,1911 Journals ,1909 The Suburban Alexander McNeil,1903 Manual Training Magazine Charles Alpheus Bennett,William Thomas Bawden,1937 Effective Security Officer's Training Manual Ralph Brislin,Ralph F.
