International Schools have developed since their inception from a largely native English-speaking student body to schools such as the author's the Vienna International School (VIS) where there are students of 90 nationalities with 65 mother tongues. Maurice Carder proposes a three-programme model for addressing the language and curricula needs of these students: a content-based second language programme; a programme of cultural and linguistic training for all staff; and a mother tongue programme for minority students. The model is based on research findings and practice at the VIS. Every year approximately 1/3 of the graduating students gain an IB Diploma International Baccalaureate because they are able to take their mother tongue other than English or German as Language A1. The book contains insightful chapters not only for school leaders, programme designers, and teachers but also for parents. Inserted boxes of student responses give an authentic voice to the needs of second language learners, and many useful resources and websites are given. Bilingual Literacy Development at Home Yang Wang, 2025-09-30. This book explores pedagogical implications for how children read, write, respond to literature, and begin to learn an additional language in the home context. Using a longitudinal ethnographic study, it explores a bilingual child's literacy development over a span of four years from kindergarten to the third grade in a real-life home context in the United States. Written from a parent-researcher's perspective, it illustrates the child's Mandarin Chinese and English language support at home and in the community during the pandemic and charts the development in bilingual reading and writing, multimodal reading responses to children's literature, and learning Spanish as a third language. Through rich and detailed descriptions, the case study methodology allows a clear articulation of the project's focus and foregrounds the exploration of reading as a sociopsycholinguistic process, as well as highlighting multimodality in reading and writing responses, translanguaging, and bilingual and bicultural identities to study and teach culturally and linguistically diverse children It will be a valuable resource for literacy researchers scholars and bilingual educators with interests in sociolinguistics literacy education bilingualism and translanguaging
