

HAWAII EARLY LEARNING PROFILE (HELP) ACTIVITY GUIDE

Introduction

The Hawaii Early Learning Profile (HELP) is a comprehensive assessment tool used to evaluate the development of young children in Hawaii. It is designed to be used by early childhood educators and parents to identify children's strengths and needs.

Key Features:
- Comprehensive: Covers a wide range of developmental areas.
- Culturally Responsive: Reflects the values and practices of Hawaiian culture.
- User-Friendly: Designed for easy use by educators and parents.
- Informative: Provides detailed information about a child's development.

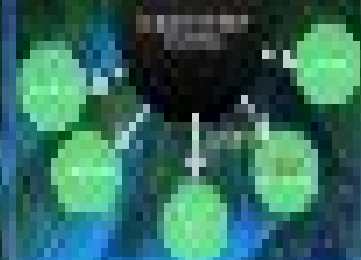

Developmental Areas and Domains

The HELP assesses children's development across several domains, including:

- Physical Development: Gross motor skills (e.g., walking, running) and fine motor skills (e.g., grasping, drawing).
- Communication: Receptive and expressive language skills.
- Social Interaction: Ability to interact with others and follow social rules.
- Self-Concept: Understanding of oneself and one's abilities.
- Problem Solving: Ability to think critically and solve problems.

How to Use the HELP

The HELP is used by observing and recording a child's behavior in various settings. It is important to use the HELP as a tool for assessment and not as a diagnostic tool. The results should be used to inform teaching and learning activities.

How to Record and Report Results

Results are recorded on the HELP form, which includes a section for each domain. The results are then reported to the parent and the child's teacher. It is important to provide a clear and concise summary of the results.

Interpreting the Results

The results of the HELP should be interpreted in the context of the child's individual development. It is important to consider the child's age, culture, and background when interpreting the results.

Using the Results to Inform Teaching

The results of the HELP can be used to inform teaching and learning activities. For example, if a child is having difficulty with a particular skill, the teacher can provide additional support and practice.

Conclusion

The HELP is a valuable tool for assessing the development of young children in Hawaii. It provides a comprehensive and culturally responsive assessment of children's development.

Appendix A: Sample Results

This appendix provides sample results for the HELP, showing how the results are recorded and reported. It includes a sample HELP form and a sample report.

Appendix B: Glossary

This appendix provides a glossary of terms used in the HELP, including definitions of key concepts and terms.

Appendix C: References

This appendix provides a list of references used in the HELP, including books, articles, and websites.
