Handbook Of Work Family Integration Research Theory And Best Practices:

Handbook of Work-Family Integration Karen Korabik, Donna S. Lero, Denise L. Whitehead, 2011-04-28 In today's industrialized societies the majority of parents work full time while caring for and raising their children and managing household upkeep trying to keep a precarious balance of fulfilling multiple roles as parent worker friend child Increasingly demands of the workplace such as early or late hours travel commute relocation etc conflict with the needs of being a parent At the same time it is through work that people increasingly define their identity and self worth and which provides the opportunity for personal growth interaction with friends and colleagues and which provides the income and benefits on which the family subsists The interface between work and family is an area of increasing research in terms of understanding stress job burn out self esteem gender roles parenting behaviors and how each facet affects the others The research in this area has been widely scattered in journals in psychology family studies business sociology health and economics and presented in diverse conferences e g APA SIOP Academy of Management It is difficult for experts in the field to keep up with everything they need to know with the information dispersed This Handbook will fill this gap by synthesizing theory research policy and workplace practice organizational policy issues in one place The book will be useful as a reference for researchers in the area as a guide to practitioners and policy makers and as a resource for teaching in both undergraduate and graduate courses Expanding the Boundaries of Work-Family Research S. Poelmans, J. Greenhaus, M. Las Heras Maestro, 2013-01-02 With contributions from thirty authors from fifteen countries this is a white book for international work family research and practice The authors offer a bold look at the future and provide guidelines for future research focusing on applied international work family research Working in America Amy S. Wharton, 2015-11-17 The Great Recession brought rising inequality and changing family economies New technologies continued to move jobs overseas including those held by middle class information workers The first new edition to capture these historic changes this book is the leading text in the sociology of work and related research fields Wharton's readings retain the classics but offer a new spectrum of articles accessible to undergraduate students that focus on the changes that will most affect their lives New to the fourth edition Mothering in the Age of Neoliberalism Giles Melinda Vandenberg, 2014-03-01 Neoliberal policies and austerity measures have unequivocally altered the landscape of women's lives globally The most detrimental effect has been on mothers as they are faced with increasing responsibility and decreasing resources Despite mothers being the primary producers consumers and repro ducers of the neoliberal world their centrality has been largely silenced within economic discourse Thus Mothering in the Age of Neoliberalism calls for a new economic framework to counter the individualized neoliberal model one in which the needs of mothers and children are prioritized This volume provides a crucial starting point By identifying the sources of neoliberal failure toward mothers we can begin to collectively formulate an alternative paradigm in which mothers voices are no longer rendered invisible but rather predominate in the global landscape Work and Family Interface in the

International Career Context Liisa Mäkelä, Vesa Suutari, 2015-06-12 This book focuses on the interface of work and personal life of international professionals The globalization of business has led to an increasing number of people who work in international roles either through working abroad on different kinds of assignments or through international travelling This book provides novel knowledge on the topic from different perspectives highlighting not only the inherent challenges but also the positive side of working in a modern globalized world Moreover the book contributes by bringing together international professionals own experiences family members experiences organizational aspects and new theoretical discussions and models The book covers several different perspectives on the work and personal life interface offering insights on the areas like adjustment social support dual career issues and organizational practices The book examines the situations of several different types of international employee such as organizational expatriates self initiated expatriates and international business travellers The new interesting research evidence is provided from various country contexts from North America Europe and Asia by researchers around the world

Elaine Ecklund, Anne E. Lincoln, 2016-08-30 Work life in academia might sound like a dream summers off year long sabbaticals the opportunity to switch between classroom teaching and research Yet when it comes to the sciences life at the top U S research universities is hardly idyllic Based on surveys of over 2 000 junior and senior scientists both male and female as well as in depth interviews Failing Families Failing Science examines how the rigors of a career in academic science makes it especially difficult to balance family and work Ecklund and Lincoln paint a nuanced picture that illuminates how gender individual choices and university and science infrastructures all play a role in shaping science careers and how science careers in turn shape family life They argue that both men and women face difficulties though differently in managing career and family While women are hit harder by the pressures of elite academic science the institution of science and academic science in particular is not accommodating possibly not even compatible for either women or men who want to raise families Perhaps most importantly their research reveals that early career academic scientists struggle considerably with balancing their work and family lives This struggle may prevent these young scientists from pursuing positions at top research universities or further pursuing academic science at all a circumstance that comes at great cost to our national science infrastructure In an era when advanced scientific research and education is more important than ever Failing Families Failing Science presents a compelling inside look at the world of the university scientists who make it possible and what universities and national science bodies can do to make a difference in their lives

Women's Lives Claire A. Etaugh, Judith S. Bridges, 2015-07-14 Women's Lives A Psychological Exploration 3rd Edition draws on a wealth of the literature to present a rich range of experiences and issues of relevance to girls and women This text offers the unique combination of a chronological approach to gender that is embedded within topical chapters Cutting edge and comprehensive each chapter integrates current material on women differing in age ethnicity social class nationality sexual orientation and ableness The third edition reflects substantial changes in the field while maintaining its empirical focus through engaging writing student activities and critical thinking exercises With over 2 100 new references emphasizing the latest research and theories the authors continue to pique interests in psychology of women

Crouter, Alan Booth, 2009-02-24 Sociological essays on policies that could help employees balance their workplace responsibilities with their other responsibilities Policies examined encompass organizational policies municipal policies state policies and federal policies Workers studied include salaried professionals and low wage part time hourly workers Provided by publisher

Generational Diversity at Work Emma Parry, 2017-09-29 Over the past decade much attention has been paid to the apparent differences in consumption preferences or workplace attitudes and behaviours across generations Within Western economies such as the USA UK and Australia it is commonly assumed that there are now four generations in the workplace namely Veterans born 1925 1942 Baby Boomers 1943 1960 Generation X 1961 1981 and Generation Y 1982 2000 The concept of generational differences at work is one that has recently been adopted by practitioners as a basis on which to design human resource management and career management practices However there has been some concern in academic circles about the validity of the notion of generations and the evidence base that supports it There is therefore a need for new perspectives and methodological approaches to investigating generational differences at work in order to establish the validity and value of generations as an axis of diversity

Generational Diversity at Work New Research Perspectives will address this need by presenting and discussing research into generational diversity that adopts a range of new theoretical perspectives or methodological approaches This book is designed as a first step in addressing the need to critically examine the theoretical and empirical basis for generational differences and to provide some new empirical data in this area
