Handbook Of Angioplasty And Stenting Procedures Techniques In Interventional Radiology:

Handbook of Angioplasty and Stenting Procedures Robert A. Morgan, Eric Walser, 2010-01-19 Despite the fact that Interventional Radiology is steadily moving toward a clinical specialty with the need for broad medical training daily craftsmanship will always remain fundamental to what an interventional radiologist does Without basic catheter and wire skills IR would not be what it is today When I watch experienced colleagues work I am always surprised to see that concerning the technique and the materials we all make the same choices There is apparently a common IR skill which is universal and can be learned with experience I always see this with new IR fellows that it takes time to step away from improvising and letting the procedure take the lead to logic and standardized control over a procedure Choosing the right materials for the right job and building a level of confidence with these materials is a very important part of any IR fellowship Why can a supervisor get a stable catheter position with a new wire in no time whereas the fellow almost gives up The difference is knowing your materials for this specific indication and combining routine and standardized operational procedures Hands on workshops are always very popular at every IR meeting because one can really learn about basic skills Lectures with the title How I do it can always count on a full audience Biomechanics and Mechanobiology of Aneurysms Tim McGloughlin, 2011-09-15 Cardiovascular disease is the leading cause of morbidity and premature death of modern era medicine It is estimated that approximately 81 million people in the United States US currently have one or more of the many forms of cardiovascular disease resulting in 1 in every 2.8 deaths or 900 000 deaths per year 40% of all deaths in Europe are a result of cardiovascular disease in people under the age of 75 Aneurysms form a significant portion of these cardiovascular related deaths and are defined as a permanent and irreversible localized dilation of a blood vessel greater than 50% of its normal diameter Although aneurysms can form in any blood vessel the more lethal aneurysms develop in the cranial arteries and in the thoracic aorta and abdominal aorta Frequently aneurysms are undetected and if left untreated may eventually expand until rupture with very high levels of morbidity and mortality The biomechanics and mechanobiology of aneurysmal diseases are not fully understood and this monograph aims to provide new insights into aneurysm aetiology and behavior based on the most recent biomechanics research related to this important topic The contributors to this volume bring together a unique blend of expertise in experimental computational and tissue biomechanics relating to aneurysm behavior and enable the reader to gain a fresh understanding of key factors influencing aneurysm behavior and treatment Biological risk factors such as tobacco smoking sex age hypertension family history and mechanobiological risk factors such as aneurysm geometry and shape as well as mechanical properties of the diseased tissues are considered in detail as are many of the diagnostic and treatment options Transcatheter Embolization and Therapy David Kessel, Charles Ray, 2010-06-09 Lee and Watkinson's Techniques in Interventional Radiology series of handbooks describes in detail the various interventional radiology procedures and therapies that are in current practice The series covers procedures in angioplasty and stenting transcatheter embolization and therapy biopsy and drainage and ablation Forthcoming are volumes on pediatric interventional radiology and neurointerventional radiology Each book is laid out in bullet point format so that the desired information can be located quickly and easily Interventional radiologists at all stages from trainees through to specialists will find this book a valuable asset for their practice Transcatheter Embolisation and Therapy approaches the procedure in two ways Section I systematically describes the techniques of transcatheter embolization and addresses the issues surrounding embolization procedures Section II presents specific organ systems and pathologies that undergo embolization therapy Dr David Kessel is a Consultant Radiologist at the Leeds Teaching Hospitals UK and Dr Charles Ray Jr is Professor of Radiology and Co Director of Research at the University of Colorado Denver Health Sciences Center USA Mastering
