Making Connections Communication Through The Ages:

Making Connections Charles T. Meadow, 2002-02-11 Meadow takes us on a Cook's tour of communication technologies across time—the alphabet and moveable type printing cave drawings and carrier pigeons telephones television and of course the Internet In each case Meadow shows how these and other devices are connected to each other even as they serve to make connections between people Part One discusses the basics of communications while Part Two delves into telecommunications before the days of steam and electricity Part Three offers insight into steam electricity and internal combustion energy and how they revolutionized society Communication is the key to a productive world For those dazzled by the pace of change in the technology or McLuhan's unorthodox but brilliant insights Meadow's casual style and pace provide the perfect antidote

The Early Information Society Alistair Black, Dave Muddiman, 2016-03-23 Whether termed the network society the knowledge society or the information society it is widely accepted that a new age has dawned unveiled by powerful computer and communication technologies Yet for millennia humans have been recording knowledge and culture engaging in the dissemination and preservation of information In The Early Information Society the authors argue for an earlier incarnation of the information age focusing upon the period 1900-1960 In support of this they examine the history and traditions in Britain of two separate but related information rich occupations information management and information science repositioning their origins before the age of the computer and identifying the forces driving their early development The Early Information Society offers an historical account which questions the novelty of the current information society It will be essential reading for students researchers and practitioners in the library and information science field and for sociologists and historians interested in the information society

The Right to Privacy in the Light of Media Convergence - Dieter Dörr, Russell L. Weaver, 2012-05-29 The rapid change of the culture of communication constantly poses new threats for the right to privacy These do not only emanate from States but also from private actors The global network of digital information has turned the protection of privacy since a long time into an international challenge In this arena national legal systems and their underlying common values collide This collection convenes contributions from European Australian and US experts They take on the challenge of providing an intercontinental analysis of the issue and answer the question how the right to privacy could be defended in future

Hospital Preaching as Informed by Bedside Listening Cajetan N. Ihewulezi, 2010-12-02 Hospital Preaching as Informed by Bedside Listening states the great need to sit down face to face and attentively listen to stories experiences and feelings of patients These bedside encounters with patients can well inform the preacher chaplain or pastoral minister and can result in more effective liturgical preaching in hospitals hospice prison and nursing home settings

This book aims to improve pastoral care ministry of the sick This pastoral approach provides a homiletical guide for preachers pastors and chaplains involved in hospital hospice or nursing home ministries It also helps pastoral ministers to develop better listening skills for the stories and experiences of the sick as well as the ability to use these stories and experiences in the proclamation of the gospel Such intentional bedside listening and the preaching that results from listening are important for addressing the problems of the sick and can enhance emotional spiritual and physical healing

Perspectives on Privacy Dieter Dörr, Russell L. Weaver, 2014-04-01 Due to rapid developments in the communication sector the right to privacy faces new challenges The increasing digitization and internationalization of communication processes have raised a number of issues and lead to conflicts wherever national legal systems and moral concepts collide Particularly in the areas of data protection and liability of online service providers universal approaches are required This title presents positions of specialists in Europe Australia the US and Canada which contribute to the international dialogue and thereby offer a starting point for a sustainable policy for the protection of privacy rights

Making Meaning by Making Connections Kathy L. Schuh, 2016-10-20 This book documents those first links that students make between content they learn in their classrooms and their prior experiences Through six late elementary school case studies these knowledge construction links are brought to life The links of the students are often rich in describing who these individuals are where they are in their learning process and what is meaningful to them Many times these links point to what has been learned both in and out of school and the contexts when and where that learning took place The mind as rhizome metaphor was used to guide the development and interpretation of the studies while the lens of Peircian semiotics provides an interpretation for these initial links The resulting grounded theory is presented through a rich and extensive presentation of excerpts from classroom observations student interviews and a student writing activity and describes the varying types of student links how the links were prompted the relationships between what the students were learning and what they already knew and specific types of in school links The narrative includes how these links were supported or inhibited in the classroom drawing on the roles of the teachers in the classrooms and what constituted authority sources of information in those classrooms Before exploring the students linking as a process of ongoing semiosis and how this process is part of a dynamic system a study of the relationship between student knowledge links and achievement is shared This rich narrative will be of interest to scholars and practitioners alike and includes an extensive appendix documenting the research methods
