Peacekeeping Past Colin McCullough, 2016-07-28 Peacekeeping Despite efforts to relegate it to the past what was once a central pillar in Canada s national identity has been making a comeback in recent years Creating Canada s Peacekeeping Past illuminates how participation in the United Nations peacekeeping efforts from 1956 to 1997 became central to national self identification in both English and French Canada Delving into four decades worth of political rhetoric newspaper coverage textbooks and more Colin McCullough outlines continuity and change in the production and reception of messages about peacekeeping He demonstrates that those who produced messages about peacekeeping often overlooked the particularities of individual missions preferring to link their cultural products to political discourses about national identity Engaging in debates about Canada s international standing as well as its broader national character this book is a welcome addition to the history of Canada s changing national identity Whatever Happened to High School History? Bob

Davis, 1995-01-01 Bob Davis examines official high school history teaching and related government policies from the 1940s to the mid 1990s providing essential background for those concerned with how history will be taught in the 21st century Davis traces the demise of the old historiographical narrative of progress the rise of an essentially content free skills based approach to education and the emergence of the new orthodoxy of post modern theory identifying the weaknesses of each and suggesting fruitful directions for future development of history teaching Whatever Happened to High School History is a passionate and insightful account of crisis and decline in a subject that used to be the pillar of the secondary curriculum An Our Schools Our Selves book (Re)Constructing Memory: Textbooks, Identity, Nation, and State James H. Williams, Wendy D. Bokhorst-Heng, 2016-07-08 This book engages readers in thirteen conversations presented by authors from around the world regarding the role that textbooks play in helping readers imagine membership in the nation Authors voices come from a variety of contexts some historical some contemporary some providing analyses over time But they all consider the changing portrayal of diversity belonging and exclusion in multiethnic and diverse societies where silenced invisible marginalized members have struggled to make their voices heard and to have their identities incorporated into the national narrative The authors discuss portrayals of past exclusions around religion ethnicity sexual orientation as they look at the shifting boundaries of insider and outsider This book is thus about who we are not only demographically but also in terms of the past especially how and whether we teach discredited pasts through textbooks The concluding chapters provides ways forward in thinking about what can be done to promote curricula that are more inclusive critical and positively bonding in increasingly larger and more inclusive contexts

Filipinos in Canada Roland Sintos Coloma, Bonnie McElhinny, Ethel Tungohan, John Paul Catungal, Lisa M. Davidson, 2012-09-11 The Philippines became Canada's largest source of short and long term migrants in 2010 surpassing China and India both of which are more than ten times larger The fourth largest racialized minority group in the country the Filipino community is frequently understood by such figures as the victimized nanny the selfless nurse and the gangster youth On one hand these narratives concentrate attention in narrow and stereotypical ways on critical issues On the other they render other problems facing Filipino communities invisible This landmark book the first wide ranging edited collection on Filipinos in Canada explores gender migration and labour youth spaces and subjectivities representation and community resistance to certain representations Looking at these from the vantage points of anthropology cultural studies education geography history information science literature political science sociology and women and gender studies Filipinos in Canada provides a strong foundation for future work in this area T. L. C. Barbara Douglass, 2014-06-16 Trying to teach then hopefully learn to change are the stages that are developmentally essential if one is to grow and become effective in any situation where actual learning can take place Knowing when and how to change approaches methods and expectations is essential Would you strap a boy of fifteen years who is bigger than you Would you teach in a locked jail unit alongside a convicted murderer I did both Recorded here are the big changes I went through during my career I went from having an atmosphere of fear in the classroom to having a loving atmosphere Yet I still had control Read about the sad the funny and the unusual experiences I had Read about some of the suggestions I now have for the improvement of the present sorry state of the public educational system in North American schools What are we to do for our many unemployed graduates

The Vimy Trap Ian McKay, Jamie Swift, 2017-03-16 The story of the bloody 1917 Battle of Vimy Ridge is according to many of today's tellings a heroic founding moment for Canada This noble birth of a nation narrative is regularly applied to the Great War in general Yet this mythical tale is rather new Vimyism today's official story of glorious martial patriotism contrasts sharply with the complex ways in which veterans artists clerics and even politicians who had supported the war interpreted its meaning over the decades Was the Great War a futile imperial debacle A proud nation building milestone Contending Great War memories have helped to shape how later wars were imagined The

Vimy Trap provides a powerful probe of commemoration cultures This subtle fast paced work of public history combining scholarly insight with sharp eyed journalism and based on primary sources and school textbooks battlefield visits and war art explains both how and why peace and war remain contested terrain in ever changing landscapes of Canadian memory

Transforming the Canadian History Classroom Samantha Cutrara, 2020-10-01 We are all our history Yet despite curricular revisions the mainstream historical narrative that shapes the way we teach students about the Canadian nation can be divisive separating us from them Responding to the evolving demographics of an ethnically and culturally heterogeneous population Transforming the Canadian History Classroom calls for an innovative approach that instead places students the stories they carry and the histories they want to be part of at the centre of history education Samantha Cutrara explores how teaching practices and institutional contexts can support ideas of connection complexity and care in order to engender meaningful learning and foster a student centric history education Applying insights gained from student and teacher interviews and case studies in schools Transforming the Canadian History Classroom delineates a learning environment in which students can investigate the historical narratives that infuse their lives and imagine a future that
