

Farewell Speech

Respected Principal, loving teachers, and my friends.

Asalam Alikum and Good Afternoon.

Words don't come easy to me when it comes to speak on an occasion like this. Throughout my school life, I've seen students being bade farewell by the school and in all those times, I've feared the day when I'll be among those stepping out of the doors of this institution for ever. Today, the time seems to have come for me too to make a transition from present to history. I don't know if you realize how difficult it is for a student who has spent glorious years of his life, in a school, to step out of it. Perhaps what makes it more difficult is the fact that you're leaving behind the care and guidance of ever-respectful teachers, the love of friends only to handful of memories. An episode of my life is over, and perhaps the most important one, and the greatest sadness lies in the fact that it have been more memorable to me than anything else. Today, as I'm here to bid you goodbye, I'd like to share a few of my experiences with you. In 4th grade when I admitted to this school I used to cry, cry and only cry. At that time my teachers Ma'am Achill and Ma'am Olive helped me alot to accomodate myself in here and then in 5th grade I really did. I know it was a long span to quite those episodes of crying and ideas of bunking school. I also want to highlight my best fiends through out this golden period namely Haider and all Hamzas I mean all four Hamzas. All friends are really helping one. In the same vein, I'd like to recount all my teachers who really helped me to strengthen my very roots. Mrs. Saeed, she is no more in these bricky confinmemnts but she has secured a special corner in our hearts. Ma'am Saheen Nasir and Ma'am Uzma, who were great teachers of this institution. Sir Zaheer Alam, a thought ful man who always gives a new way to see the life. Sir M.M Alam, who dig out every funny way to make us learn things, This trick purely belongs to

Text-Dependent Questions, Grades 6-12 Douglas Fisher, Nancy Frey, Heather Anderson, Marisol Thayre, 2014-09-02 Fisher Frey's answer to close and critical reading. Learn the best ways to use text dependent questions as scaffolds during close reading and the big understandings they yield. But that's just for starters. Fisher and Frey also include illustrative video texts and questions, cross-curricular examples, and an online facilitator's guide making the two volumes of TDQ a potent professional development tool across all of K-12. The genius of TDQ is the way Fisher and Frey break down the process into four cognitive pathways: What does the text say? How does the text work? What does the text mean? What does the text inspire you to do?

Teaching Discipline-Specific Literacies in Grades 6-12 Vicky I. Zygmouris-Coe, 2014-10-30 Comprehensive, timely, and relevant, this text offers an approach to discipline-specific literacy instruction that is aligned with the Common Core State Standards and the needs of teachers, students, and secondary schools across the nation. It is essential that teachers know how to provide instruction that both develops content and literacy knowledge and skills and aims at reducing student achievement gaps. Building on the research-supported premise that discipline-specific reading instruction is key to achieving these goals, this text provides practical guidance and strategies for prospective and practicing content area teachers and other educators on how to prepare all students to succeed in college and the workforce. Pedagogical features in each chapter engage readers in digging deeper and in applying the ideas and strategies presented in their own contexts. Classroom Life: real 6-12 classroom scenarios and interviews with content area teachers. Common Core State Standards Connections: College, Career, and Workforce Connections. Applying Discipline-Specific Literacies: Think Like an Expert habits of thinking and learning specific to each discipline. Digital Literacies: Differentiating Instruction. Savoie,2019-09-02 Canada s representative democracy is confronting important challenges At the top of the list is the growing inability of the national government to perform its most important roles namely mapping out collective actions that resonate in all regions as well as enforcing these measures Others include Parliament s failure to carry out important responsibilities an activist judiciary incessant calls for greater transparency the media s rapidly changing role and a federal government bureaucracy that has lost both its way and its standing Arguing that Canadians must reconsider the origins of their country in order to understand why change is difficult and why they continue to embrace regional identities Democracy in Canada explains how Canada s national institutions were shaped by British historical experiences and why there was little effort to bring Canadian realities into the mix As a result the scope and size of government and Canadian federalism have taken on new forms largely outside the Constitution Parliament and now even Cabinet have been pushed aside so that policy makers can design and manage the modern state This also accounts for the average citizen s belief that national institutions cater to economic elites to these institutions own members and to interest groups at citizens own expense A masterwork analysis Democracy in Canada investigates the forces shaping the workings of Canadian federalism and the country s national political and bureaucratic institutions
