Maps for Lost Lovers Nadeem Aslam, 2007-12-18 WINNER OF THE KIRIYAMA PRIZE If Gabriel Garcia Marquez had chosen to write about Pakistani immigrants in England he might have produced a novel as beautiful and devastating as Maps for Lost Lovers. Jugnu and Chanda have disappeared. Like thousands of people all over England they were lovers and living together out of wedlock. To Chanda's family however the disgrace was unforgivable. Perhaps enough so as to warrant murder. As he explores the disappearance and its aftermath through the eyes of Jugnu's worldly older brother Shamas and his devout wife Kaukab Nadeem Aslam creates a closely observed and affecting portrait of people whose traditions threaten to bury them alive. The result is a tour de force intimate affecting tragic and suspenseful. Disorientation: Muslim Identity in Contemporary Anglophone Literature E. Santesso, 2013-09-12 Focusing on British novels about the Muslim immigrant experience published after 9/11 this book examines the promise as well as the limits of British Muslim identity as a viable form of self representation and the challenges particularly for women of reconciling non Western religious identity with the secular policies of Western states. New Postcolonial British Genres Sarah Iltott, 2015-09-01 This study analyses four new genres of literature and film that have evolved to accommodate and negotiate the changing face of postcolonial Britain since 1990 British Muslim Bildungsromane gothic tales of postcolonial England the subcultural urban novel and multicultural British comedy. Making Time Carolin Gebauer, 2021-04-19 2023 Perkins Prize of the International Society for the Study of Narrative ESSE Book Award for Junior Scholars for a book in the field of Literatures in the English Language Responding to the current surge in present tense novels Making Time is an innovative contribution to narratological research on present tense usage in narrative fiction. Breaking with the tradition of conceptualizing the present tense purely as a deictic category denoting synchronicity between a narrative event and its presentation the study redefines present tense narration as a fully fledged narrative strategy whose functional potential far exceeds temporal relations between story and discourse. The first part of the volume presents numerous analytical categories that systematically describe the formal structural functional and syntactic dimensions of present tense usage in narrative fiction. These categories are then deployed to investigate the uses and functions of present tense narration in selected twenty first century novels including Hilary Mantel's Wolf Hall Margaret Atwood's Oryx and Crake Ian McEwan's Nutshell and Irvine Welsh's Skagboys. The seven case studies serve to illustrate the ubiquity of present tense narration in contemporary fiction ranging from the historical novel to the thriller and to investigate the various ways in which the present tense contributes to narrative worldmaking. The 2000s: A Decade of Contemporary British Fiction Nick Bentley, Nick Hubble, Leigh Wilson, 2015-10-22 How did social cultural and political events in Britain during the 2000s shape contemporary British fiction? The means of publishing buying and reading fiction changed dramatically between 2000 and 2010. This volume explores how the socio political and economic turns of the decade bookended by the beginning of a millennium and an economic crisis transformed the act of writing and reading. Through consideration of among other things the treatment of neuroscience violence the historical and youth subcultures in recent fiction the essays in this collection explore the complex and still powerful relation between the novel and the world in which it is written published and read This major literary assessment of the fiction of the 2000s covers the work of newer voices such as Monica Ali Mark Haddon Tom McCarthy David Peace and Zadie Smith as well as those more established such as Salman Rushdie Hilary Mantel and Ian McEwan making it an essential contribution to reading defining and understanding the decade
