Posthuman Spiritualities in Contemporary Performance Silvia Battista, 2018-06-19

This book provides an interpretative analysis of the notion of spirituality through the lens of contemporary performance and posthuman theories. The book examines five performance artworks: The Artist is Present 2010 by Marina Abramović, The Deer Shelter Skyscape 2007 by James Turrell, CAT 1998 by Ansuman Biswas, Journey to the Lower World by Marcus Coates 2004, and the work with pollen by Wolfgang Laib. Through the analysis of these works, the notion of spirituality is grounded in materiality and embodiment, allowing the conceptual juxtaposition of spirit and matter to introduce the paradoxical as the guiding thread of the narrative of the book. Here, the human is interrogated and negotiated with within a plurality of other living organisms, intangible existences, and micro and macrocosmic ecologies. Silence, meditation, shamanic journeys, reciprocal gazing, restraint, and contemplation are analyzed as technologies used to manipulate perception and adventure into the multilayered condition of matter.

The Participator in Contemporary Art Kaija Kaitavuori, 2018-08-30. The early 21st century has seen contemporary art make continued use of audience participation in which the spectator becomes part of the artwork itself. In this book, Kaija Kaitavuori claims that the participator is a new artistic role that does not fall under the auspices of artist or spectator and in proving such, she devises a four-group typology of involvement. Her classification distinguishes between different forms of engagement and identifies their specific features. The key criteria she proposes are how concepts of authorship and ownership shift in relation to collectively created work, how contracts regulating the use and production of shared work are arranged, and the extent to which involvement in making art can be regarded as democratic. This highly original book thus offers students and teachers the tools with which to improve their understanding of participatory art and removes the confusing terminology that has characterized so many other discussions.

Abramovi Institute in Hudson New York While the popular success of Abramovi s Manhattan performances is widely acknowledged especially for example the fanfare that surrounded The Artist is Present serious consideration of how these performances have sustained such a devoted fan base and why she has become an intense presence in the media remains lacking Comparison with a diverse roster of past and present artists including Andy Warhol Hannah Wilke Shirin Neshat Chris Burden and Tehching Hsieh helps to formulate my investigation I present strong links between the recurring interactive use of the telescope and or camera lens in Abramovi s three New York performances in relationship to the film studies concept of intimate strangers the It effect and 1990s relational aesthetics Although Abramovi is avowedly not a feminist I argue that concepts of gender performativity inform not only the reception of her work but also her Internet and mainstream media presence She is seen to fit the paradigm of the executive female artist a designation used in this instance to reconfigure collaborative performance art practices Abramovi s status as an art star is paradoxically rooted in a multiplicity of presences and absences that exhibit both a corporeal and corporate structure
