Space Three-Dimensional? P. Janich,2013-03-09 We live in a space we get about in it We also quantify it we think of it as having dimensions Ever since Euclid s ancient geometry we have thought of bodies occupying parts of this space including our own bodies the space of our practical orientations our moving abouts as having three dimensions Bodies have volume specified by measures of length breadth and height But how do we know that the space we live in has just these three dimensions It is theoreti cally possible that some spaces might exist that are not correctly described by Euclidean geometry After all there are the non Euclidian geometries descriptions of spaces not conforming to the axioms and theorems of Euclid s geometry As one might expect there is a history of philosophers attempts to prove that space is three dimensional The present volume surveys these attempts from Aristotle through Leibniz and Kant to more recent philosophy As you will learn the historical theories are rife with terminology with language already tainted by the as sumed but by no means obvious clarity of terms like dimension line point and others Prior to that language there are actions ways of getting around in the world building things being interested in things in the more specific case of dimensionality cutting things It is to these actions that we must eventually appeal if we are to understand how science is grounded Motor Body-building in All Its
