Reclaiming Early Childhood Literacies Richard J Meyer,Kathryn F. Whitmore,2016-09-01 At a time when literacy has become more of a political issue than a research or pedagogical one this volume refocuses attention on work with young children that places them at the center of their literacy worlds Drawing on robust and growing knowledge which is often marginalized because of political and legislative forces it explores young children s literacies as inclusive redefined and broadened encompassing technologies the arts multiple modalities and teaching and learning for democracy cultural sustainability and social justice Highlighted themes include children s rights to grow through playful engagements with multiple literacies to interrogate their worlds adults who expand and inspire children s consciousness and awareness of others and the world around them the centrality of meaning making in all aspects of language and literacy development a deep respect for diversities including languages cultures sexual orientation socioeconomic status and more and an expansive understanding of the nature of texts Connecticut School Document Connecticut school document,1895 Report of the Board of Education of the State of Connecticut ; Submitted to the Governor, Together with the Report of the Secretary of the Board Connecticut. State Board of Education,1899 Transformative Motherscholarship and Art Shana Cinquemani,Georgina Badoni,Elizabeth Garber,Marissa McClure Sweeny,2025-06-12 This book considers the identity of the motherscholar a mother who draws from their practice of mothering to inform their art and scholarship and from their scholarship to inform how they mother By considering the identity of the motherscholar the contributors from Canada Finland India New Zealand and the USA work to reconceptualize feminist approaches to childhood research and uncover formerly invisibilized public pedagogies of childhood Through theoretical research visual art stories and oral histories the contributors explore how their fused identities affect and multiply structural and interpersonal transformation in homes in communities and in pedagogical spaces They describe a mother as a self identifying or non binary person with caregiving responsibilities including but not limited to biological mothers adoptive mothers stepmothers alloparents grandmothers mothers who are childless mothers who are grieving and mothers who are experiencing infertility Research in Young Children's Literacy and Language Development Olivia N. Saracho,2019-12-13 The importance of the early years in young children s lives and the rigid inequality in literacy achievement are a stimulating backdrop to current research in young children's language and literacy development This book reports new data and empirical analyses that advance the theory of language and literacy with researchers using different methodologies in conducting their study with both a sound empirical underpinning and a captivating analytical rationalization of the results The contributors to this volume used several methodological methods e g quantitative qualitative to describe the complete concept of the study the achievement of the study and the study in an appropriate manner based on the study's methodology The contributions to this volume cover a wide range of topics including dual language learners Latino immigrant children children who have hearing disabilities parents and teachers beliefs about language development early literacy skills of toddlers and preschool children interventions multimodalities in early literacies writing and family literacy The studies were conducted in various early childhood settings such as child care nursery school Head Start kindergarten and primary grades and the subjects in the studies represent the pluralism of the globe a pluralism of language backgrounds ethnicity abilities and disabilities This book was originally published as a special issue of Early Child Development and Care

Building Apartheid Nicholas Coetzer, 2016-04-22 Through a specific architectural lens this book exposes the role the British Empire played in the development of apartheid Through reference to previously unexamined archival material the book uncovers a myriad of mechanisms through which Empire laid the foundations onto which the edifice of apartheid was built It unearths the significant role British architects and British architectural ideas played in facilitating white dominance and racial segregation in pre apartheid Cape Town To achieve this the book follows the progenitor of the Garden City Movement Ebenezer Howard in its tripartite structure of Country Town Suburb acknowledging the Garden City Movement's dominance at the Cape at the time This tripartite structure also provides a significant match to postcolonial schemas of Self Other Same which underpin the three parts to the book Much is owed to Edward Said's discourse analytical approach in Orientalism and the work of Homi Bhabha in the definition and interpretation of archival material This material ranges across written and visual representations in journals and newspapers through exhibitions and events to legislative acts as well as the physicality of the various architectural objects studied The book concludes by drawing attention to the ideological potency of architecture which tends to be veiled more so through its ubiquitous presence and in doing so it presents not only a story peculiar to Imperial Cape Town but one inherent to architecture more broadly The concluding chapter also provides a timely mirror for the machinations currently at play in establishing a post apartheid architecture and urbanity in the new South Africa
