Lost Masterpieces Architecture 3s:

Frank Lloyd Wright and Mason City Roy R. Behrens, 2016-12-05 A superb study of what a stellar group of architects accomplished in the Iowa locale not to mention the vision of the locals. In the early 1900s Frank Lloyd Wright transformed a small midwestern prairie community into one of the world's most important architectural destinations. Mason City, Iowa, became home to his City National Bank and Park Inn, the last surviving Wright hotel. In addition, his prototype Stockman House helped launch the Prairie School architectural style. Soon after architect Walter Burley Griffin followed in Wright's footsteps, designing a cluster of Prairie School homes in the Rock Crest Rock Glen neighborhood. Design historian Roy Behrens leads the way through Mason City's historic development from the Industrial Revolution to the modern era of Frank Lloyd Wright. Includes photos. A fine job of showcasing Wright's work in Mason City while incorporating some of Wright's personal and scandalous history with the evolution of this north central Iowa town. The Poetry of Sight Dürer's Lost Masterpiece Ulinka Rublack, 2023 Dürer's Lost Masterpiece tracks the history of a turning point in the career of the celebrated German artist Albrecht Dürer 1471-1528 when he stopped painting altarpieces after arguing with a merchant patron over payment. As an eloquent homage to Dürer's life, it brings us closer to the creation and meaning of his paintings than ever before. Dürer's Lost Masterpiece considers the celebrated German artist Albrecht Dürer 1471-1528, his time and his legacy. It tracks the history of a crucial and often overlooked turning point in his career when Dürer stopped painting altarpieces after falling out with the Frankfurt merchant Jacob Heller over a commission. The story of this painting as Dürer's lost masterpiece functions as a lens through which to view the new relationship developing between art collecting and commerce in Europe up to the Thirty Years War 1618-1648 when global trade and cultural exchanges were increasing. At the heart of the book is the argument that merchants and their mentalities were crucial for the making of Renaissance art and its legacy for modern art. The book draws on a decade of research and uniquely draws the reader into the rich emotional worlds of three merchants, each of whom typified the evolving relationship between art and commerce in that entrepreneurial and often ruthless age. It brings to life Dürer's determined fight for creative makers to be adequately paid and explores the big questions about how European societies came to value the arts and crafts that remain relevant to our time. Bibliographic Guide to Art and Architecture New York Public Library. Art and Architecture Division, 2001 Lost Masterpieces Sir Joseph Paxton, John McKean, 1999 Part of a series that aims to place buildings within their historical context, this text considers Paxton's Crystal Palace, McKim, Mead & White's Pennsylvania Station and Dutert's Palais des Machines. It includes specially produced technical drawings that explain how the buildings were detailed and put together. The text explains why a knowledge of these structures is vital to an understanding of the history of architecture as together these buildings with their innovative approaches to design and new technology paved the way for the modern architectural movement. Orte und Ihre Geschichte(n) Susan Ingram, 2003 Oriental Visions Nicky Levell, Nicola Levell, 2000 Through the biography of Frederick

John Horniman 1835 1906 a Victorian traveller collector and Museum founder this work critically reconstructs and explores the dynamic cultural network of individuals and institutions touristic and collecting practices textual and exhibitionary media which interacted and generated images of the exotic Orient Starting in the leafy suburbs of south London this study begins by examining the afterlife of the world renowned Crystal Palace which had housed the world s first Great Exhibition Following its move from Hyde Park to Sydenham in the mid 1850s this immense glass structure soon became a popular tourist destination attracting more than a million visitors every year and transforming its once isolated rural surrounds into fashionable residential areas Levell specifically focuses on the powerful though selective representations of the distant Orient at the People s Palace which enchanted Victorian sightseers artists collectors and travellers She then looks in detail at the spectacular displays of the British Empire s Eastern Possessions at the hugely popular Colonial and Indian Exhibition of 1886 in South Kensington Together these two exhibitionary complexes with their visually striking images of the Orient guided Frederick Horniman s travels and also influenced the type of material that he acquired for his private Museum which was located in Forest Hill a short distance from the Crystal Palace From exhibitions and collections this monograph then moves on to explore travel and collecting Drawing on the journal that Frederick Horniman kept during his world tours a fascinating and richly illustrated account is given of the Victorian tourist s travels in India Ceylon Sri Lanka Japan China Burma Union of Myanmar and Egypt describing the places he visited the peoples he encountered and the objects he collected Finally attention is turned to the extensive oriental collections which were assembled by Horniman over a forty year period and placed on public display in his twenty four room Museum In their museal setting these exhibits which had been acquired from dealers auction houses international exhibitions missionaries travellers and colonial officials both at home and abroad conjured up striking and alluring visions of the Orient Provided by publisher BUENOS AIRES. bitat artificial Este libro que es por otro lado producto de la enorme atracción que es capaz de generar una ciudad como Buenos Aires intenta ser una contribución preliminar proyectual que permita comprender las transiciones que actualmente tienen lugar en su paisaje urbano y su espacio público abriendo el camino a quienes tienen a su cargo las decisiones sobre la ciudad y a aquellos que se interesan por sus problemas y por la arquitectura

La arquitectura como ciencia Ramón Araujo, 2019-10-08 Este libro es una defensa del espíritu cívico entendido este como la búsqueda de las soluciones más perfectas e íntegras Su objetivo es razonar cuáles son los fines de la arquitectura qué conocimientos la constituyen qué criterios la rigen cuáles serían las mejores soluciones para los diferentes tipos edificatorios actuales y en última instancia para el objeto fundamental del esfuerzo de los arquitectos que es la ciudad El primer paso para devolver a la arquitectura su dignidad lo tendremos que dar los arquitectos hemos de hacer valer nuestros conocimientos la propia disciplina debemos replantearnos los objetivos de nuestra actividad y el propio cuerpo de lo que fue y es nuestra profesión tenemos que reorganizar nuestras escuelas en las que se ha perdido la visión integradora y generalista que es consustancial a nuestro oficio y donde la enseñanza se centra ahora en mixtificaciones que rozan la superstición hemos de reconsiderar el propio proceso del proyecto y la construcción La idea esencial es considerar que el proceso de proyecto es absolutamente racional o incluso científico que la arquitectura de cada tiempo sus reglas generales y las soluciones a los diferentes tipos se establecen de acuerdo con un proceso riguroso en busca de la solución mejor la primera y que sólo entonces resultan unas obras que son útiles y bellas La arquitectura es una cuestión de conocimientos de raciocinio mucho más que de inventiva y el culto a la creación sin ataduras está en el origen de tantos edificios absurdos que hoy se proponen y de mucha frustración entre los estudiantes

The Builder, 1856 The Long Lives of Medieval Art and Architecture Jennifer M. Feltman, Sarah Thompson, 2019-03-08 Traditional histories of medieval art and architecture often privilege the moment of a work's creation yet surviving works designated as medieval have long and expansive lives Many have extended prehistories emerging from their sites and contexts of creation and most have undergone a variety of interventions including adaptations and restorations since coming into being The lives of these works have been further extended through historiography museum exhibitions and digital media Inspired by the literary category of biography and the methods of longue durée historians the introduction and seventeen chapters of this volume provide an extended meditation on the longevity of medieval works of art and the aspect of time as a factor in shaping our interpretations of them While the metaphor of lives invokes associations with the origin of the discipline of art history focus is shifted away from temporal constraints of a single human lifespan or generation to consider the continued lives of medieval works even into our present moment Chapters on works from the modern countries of Italy France England Spain and Germany are drawn together here by the thematic threads of essence and continuity transformation memory and oblivion and restoration Together they tell an object oriented history of art and architecture that is necessarily entangled with numerous individuals and institutions
