spending public funds and foregoing corporate tax revenues in order to attract private investment this book offers an analysis of local economic development and business recruitment in the automotive industry Asking why localities felt they could and more importantly should make deals with private capital in the first place this book examines the shift toward entrepreneurial local governance from a global and historically informed perspective Through a study of the 19 greenfield automotive assembly plants constructed in the United States during the neoliberal era the author draws on interviews with corporate and government elites to chart the connections between increasingly global competitive industry pressures and changing attitudes toward incentivizing private investment Studying the development of an approach that has partially reoriented local governments away from managing localities and towards helping manage transnational capital flows by absorbing some of the increasing risk of long term capital investment Entrepreneurial Governance in the Neoliberal Era will appeal to scholars of sociology politics and urban studies with interests in globalization the sociology of work and industry the sociology of development and neoliberal governance Narratives of TESOL Professionals Hayriye Kayi-Aydar,Angel Steadman,Kate Shea,2023-09-01 Through insiders perspectives and narratives this edited collection provides insight into the lived experiences of recent graduates of various English Applied Linguistics and or TESOL doctoral programs in North America The authors document how their personal and professional identities intersected during their doctoral studies and how these doctoral programs as learning environments supported them in their professional development and dissertation research As such their insider perspectives and narratives are of special value to those contemplating pursuing such a program or are in progress towards their own degree as well as the faculty members who advise and support these doctoral students Chapters focus on topics immediately relevant to success and persistence in a doctoral program such as developing a network of mentors establishing a work life balance and professional socialization among others All authors are recent graduates of their programs who have been intentionally selected for their recent memories in navigating the process At a time when doctoral program persistence declines at the intersection of students gender and racial background see Okahana Zhou 2019 there is a pressing need to share the insights and lived experiences of those less commonly featured in narratives of the successful doctoral scholar This need is especially true among TESOL professionals who will teach and learn in diverse global settings throughout their careers following their graduation This book contributes to that need and it is an essential resource for scholars in TESOL English Applied Linguistics and other similar doctoral programs Automotive FDI in Emerging Europe A. J. Jacobs,2017-06-19 This book examines the dramatic increase in automotive assembly plants in the former Socialist Central European CE nations of Czechia East Germany Hungary Poland and Slovakia from 1989 onwards Enticed by relatively lower wage labour and significant government incentives the world s largest automakers have launched more than 20 passenger car assembly complexes in CE nations with production accelerating dramatically since 2001 As a result the annual passenger car production in Western Europe declined by more than 20% between 2001 and 2015 and alternatively in the CEE it increased by nearly 170% during this period Drawing on case studies of 25 current and former foreign run assembly plants the author presents a rare historical account of automotive foreign assembly plants in the CE following this dramatic geographic shift This book will expand the knowledge of policy makers in Europe in relation to their pursuits of FDI and will be of great interest to scholars and students of business economic history political science and development

Knowledge and Music Education Graham J. McPhail, 2022-08-05 Knowledge and Music Education A Social Realist Account explores current challenges for music education in relation to wider philosophical and political debates and seeks to find a way forward for the field by rethinking the nature and value of epistemic knowledge in the wake of postmodern critiques Focusing on secondary school music and considering changes in approaches to teaching over time this book seeks to understand the forces at play that enhance or undermine music s contribution to a socially just curriculum for all The author argues that the unique nature of disciplinary derived knowledge provides students with essential cognitive development and must be integrated with the turn to more inclusive student centred and culturally responsive teaching Connecting theoretical issues with concrete curriculum design the book considers how we can give music students the benefits of specialised subject knowledge without returning to a traditional past Mendelian Randomization: An Approach for Precision Medicine and Public Health Triinu Peters, Xiaoqing Pan, Yi-Ju Li, Jiayue-Clara Jiang, 2025-04-24

Epidemiological studies have established various observational associations between modifiable human behaviors and disease risk. However, observational studies are prone to unmeasured confounding bias and cannot establish causal associations which are important to investigate disease treatment and drug development. In 1991, Gray and Wheatley proposed the term Mendelian Randomization, a method that was applied to obtain unbiased estimations of the impact of cancer treatment within a family-based design. The term has since been applied to describe statistical genomic studies that used genetic instruments as proxy for modifiable risk factors or behaviors to infer causal association with diseases. The principle of Mendelian Randomization relies on Mendel's laws of inheritance and random segregation. It is less prone to unmeasured confounding bias and reverse causation compared to observational studies and can be applied to address questions of causality without any typical bias that impact the validity of traditional epidemiological methods. Studies based on Mendelian Randomization have become more conventional with the enhancement of genome-wide association studies (GWAS) and genome sequencing technologies. These methods have the potential to reveal the aetiological importance of environmental causal factors in common chronic diseases with minimal influence of confounding, reverse causation, and various other sources of bias. Economic Development of Emerging East Asia Frank S.T. Hsiao, Mei-Chu Wang Hsiao, 2017-09-27

Economic Development of Emerging East Asia presents economic studies of Taiwan and South Korea, compares them chiefly with Japan and the United States, and finds that these East Asian countries are still in the process of emerging in the world economy. A timely quantitative and econometric analysis of the regional economies of emerging East Asia, the volume examines development indicators, effects of the 1997 Asian financial crisis, productivity growth, catching up and convergence of long-run real GDP per capita growth, the time required for a country to catch up, colonialism and economic development in Taiwan and India. Arranged in increasing complexity of economic analyses, the chapters in this book provide a comprehensive understanding of emerging East Asian economies. In addition to serving as a handy reference for regional economists, policy analysts, and researchers, Economic Development of Emerging East Asia can also be used as a textbook on economics and business.
