Tell me what the words mean: main idea, topic or detail mean.

Can you summarize the story of What Makes a Family? by telling just the most important part?

Explain reasons why the picture on p. 10 of Building with Dad was chosen to help the reader understand a family.

Explain a text-to-self connection of the story's details in the What Makes a Family? to something that has happened in your life.

Can you read the names of the parts of a story?

How are Three Journeys and My Little Sister the same?
How are they different?

How would you change the poem, Tortillas for Mommy, to create a text-to-self connection?

After sharing several stories about families, can you evaluate which one BEST tells the same story's message like the the others in What Makes a Family?

Let's locate one detail in What Makes a Family?

Can you retell the important details from the story of the Building with Dad in your own words?

What can you figure out (conclude) about the relationship of the two stories shown in the poem, My Little Sister, from your thoughts.

Do you think that you would see the same message in many texts about families from different parts of the world? Explain.

Which one is not a story element: characters, main idea, problem, solution?

Tell me what is the same about ALL the poems on p. 28-30.

Explain how the poem, My Little Sister, would be different if it was about the BIG sister.

Which one of the week's stories do you think was the BEST way to learn about families? Explain.
